Israel-Egypt Border Quiet

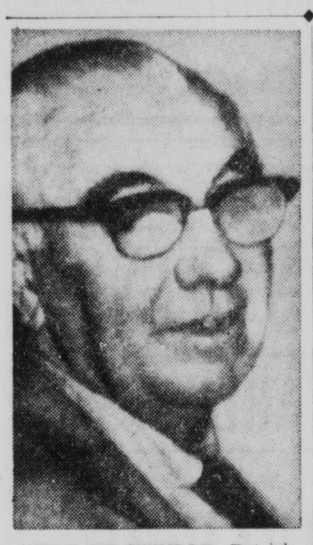

HELD IN SWINDLE—Patrick H. Lennon (above), 50-year-old former convict, was arrested in New York yesterday by postal inspectors on charges of conspiring to swindle a Rochester, N. Y., industrialist, Augustine J. Cunningham, of $423,771. Lennon and Leo F. Hampton, the inspectors said, induced Cunningham to buy up releases in a defunct firm that crashed during the 1929 stock market debacle. (Story at bottom of page). (AP Photofax)

Minor Clashes Follow Fighting For Checkpost

JERUSALEM, Nov. 4 (AP)—Comparative quiet returned to the Israeli-Egyptian frontier today, although Israel reported an Egyptian attack by two platoons on an outpost east of the Gaza Strip.

An Israeli spokesman said the Egyptians were repulsed by machinegun and rifle fire. Egyptian spokesman in Cairo made no mention of such an attack.

A U. N. spokesman said Israeli and Egyptian forces continued an exchange of mortar and artillery fire farther south in the El Auja-Nizana demilitarized zone, scene of a bloody battle yesterday, but "nothing serious happened."

Egyptian military sources in Cairo said Israeli reconnaissance planes flew over the Gaza Strip today and met heavy Egyptian antiaircraft fire.

The Israeli official reported his side suffered no casualties in beating back the Egyptians north of the Nir Izhak settlements, about two miles east of the Gaza border. The Egyptian-held Gaza Strip is about 50 miles north of El Auja.

Both sides claimed the strategic El Sabha checkpost in the El Auja-Nizana zone after a 17-hour battle described as the heaviest fighting between Israelis and Arabs since the 1948 Palestine war.

An Israeli Foreign Office spokesman said Israel had informed the United Nations "there will be no firing across the international frontier from the Israel side unless we are attacked or the Egyptians cross the frontier."

Four Of 10 Who Tunneled From Prison Captured

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 4 (AP)—Four of 10 tough inmates who tunneled out last night in the largest mass escape in the history of the trouble-plagued Washington State Penitentiary were recaptured today after about 17 hours freedom.

An alert farmer living in the sparsely-settled wheat growing country 20 miles north of here found tracks showing the four apparently spent the night in one of his outbuildings. His barking dogs had awakened him during the night.

Posse Nabs Quartet

An armed posse, quickly summoned after daybreak, found the four convicts walking along a railroad track near a brushy area, apparently headed for the desolate Snake River region. They were returned to prison.

They were Ollie Wiles, 42, serving life as an habitual criminal; Benny S. Crudle, 29; Gene Kensler, 32; and James Darden, 26.

The search was pressed in all directions in this rolling southeastern Washington county for the other six, one of whom was convicted of murdering his mother.

60-Foot Tunnel

Prison officials disclosed more details of the men's getaway after examination of the 60-foot tunnel and the unfinished basement in which they placed the excavated earth. Their escape was discovered at a 7:30 p.m. change of guards last night, probably two hours after they reached the outside.

The escapees had to break through seven inches of concrete floor of one of the cells. They apparently used tools stolen during a riot in which inmates seized control of the institution last July 14.

During their digging, they had used radio antenna wire to string lights. It was only about 30 feet from their building to the prison wall, but the entire length of the tunnel was 60 feet.

Reds Delivering Arms To Egypt By "Shiploads"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The State Department officially disclosed today the Soviet bloc is delivering arms to Egypt by the shiploads, together with military technicians.

Statements by press officer Lincoln White broke the department's long official silence on a variety of reports that the Communists had lost no time in carrying out their cannon-for-cotton deal with Egypt.

In response to news conference questions, White said he could supply no details on the amount or kinds of arms. But he said the department's information was that "several shiploads" had arrived.

Technicians On Scene

As to technicians, again he had no details. However, he said the department had information that such experts—either Russians or Czechs—were on the scene.

Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser has been warned by U.S. officials he is playing with fire in agreeing to swap cotton for Czech arms. There is concern here not only that Israel will be aroused possibly to the point of preventive action, but that the Communists may extend their influence dangerously by pouring into the area hundreds of technicians and preaching the gospel of communism.

80-Million-Dollar Deal

Nasser insists he can avoid infiltration by holding the number of technicians to the fewest needed to do the job. Best reports are he has signed up for an 80-million-dollar deal involving guns, tanks, jet planes and submarines.

Israel's ambassador here, Abba Eban, is expected to meet early next week, probably Monday, with State Department officials. He has a list of weapons Israel wants from the United States to balance Czech shipments to Egypt. Secretary of State Dulles has promised "sympathetic consideration."

State Dept. Summons Egypt, Israel Envoys

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The State Department has summoned the Egyptian and Israeli ambassadors to meetings tomorrow to discuss the tense Middle East situation with Asst. Secretary George Allen.

The meetings have been called as part of the State Department's urgent moves to keep the fighting between Egyptian and Israeli forces from exploding into a full-scale war.

In announcing the move, the State Department said that at first it had tried to schedule late evening meetings. It gave this effort up for unexplained reasons.

Israel's ambassador, Abba Eban, who returned tonight from consultations with his government, will meet first with Allen at 10 a.m. EST. Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hussein is scheduled to see Allen one hour later. Allen is the State Department's specialist in Middle Eastern affairs.

West Asks Both Sides To Accept Peace Plan

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Western Big Three today urged Israel and Egypt to accept the United Nations peace plan aimed at averting new clashes on the disputed El Auja frontier.

Officials said the United States, France and Britain made their appeals through diplomatic channels amid general anxiety that further fighting might flare into a major Israeli-Arab war.

Israel and Egypt now are considering the proposals cabled to them last night by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. The plan calls for Egypt to pull her troops out of the El Auja demilitarized zone and urges a permanent demarcation line be drawn in the disputed region.

Film Star Susan Hayward, Blonde Actress In Ruckus

Jil Jarmyn, 23, who once was Barry's girl friend, found a back door of his house open and wandered in to find Miss Hayward, 34, cosily ensconced in the bedroom wearing polka dot pajamas, she told reporters and a city attorney's representative.

She alleged that the red-haired actress, who has been dating Barry recently, made an "unprovoked assault" upon her resulting in whacks on the head, a bitten thumb, buttons torn from her blouse and a bruise on her leg when she fell over a coffee table.

The scene was the North Hollywood home of Barry yesterday noon. Miss Hayward, 34, who has been dating Barry recently, was having coffee with him when Miss Jarmyn walked in, the door being open. She had known Barry for about five months but told a reporter that they had had a dispute and ended a budding romance.

When Miss Jarmyn arrived, Miss Hayward evidently said something to the customary effect of "who is this woman" and in practically no time a fight was on, with Barry attempting the role of peacemaker. His comment today was "No comment."

Miss Hayward, whose divorce divorce from Jess Barker after a sensational trial is being appealed by Barker, described the whole thing as "a tempest in a very small teapot."

Soviet Agrees To Exchange Of Clergymen

Rev. Louis F. Dion Will Go To Moscow As Dispute Settled

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The United States today announced agreement with Russia on an exchange of clergymen to tend the spiritual needs of Americans in the Soviet Union and Russians in the United States.

The agreement is strictly reciprocal:

Archbishop Boris of the Russian Orthodox Church will come to the United States.

Six-Month Dispute Ends

Neither of their entry visas carries a termination date so they can stay as long as the two governments are willing to let them.

The announcement ends a six-month deadlock. Father Dion's predecessor, the Rev. Georges Bissonnette, was ejected from Russia last March after Archbishop Boris was given his walking papers by the United States.

The new agreement confines Father Dion, like Father Bissonnette a member of the Assumptionist order, to ministering solely to Americans inside Russia—no Russian citizens. Likewise, Archbishop Boris is authorized only "to minister to the religious needs of Soviet nationals." That means the Archbishop no longer could deal with Americans who follow the teachings of the Russian Orthodox Church, such as he did earlier this year.

400 Russians In U. S.

Confining the two clerics to their own nationals sharply limits the number of persons involved. State Department records show there are about 400 Russians in the United States, about half of them in Washington and the other half in New York City. Fewer than 150 Americans are in Russia. In both cases, the figures include wives and children of official personnel.

Widow Is Freed In Bomb Slaying

MCMINNVILLE, Ore. Nov. 4 (AP)—Attractive Mrs. Marjorie Smith was found innocent today of the car bomb slaying of her husband in Portland April 21.

A jury of nine men and three women acquitted her this morning of a first degree murder charge after deliberating more than 15 hours. The case went to the jury Wednesday night.

The prosecution had demanded the death penalty in the trial, during which Victor Laurence Wolf, 45, testified that Mrs. Smith, 34, plotted the death of her husband, Kermit, an attorney.

Wolf said he wired the fatal bomb in Smith's car at her urging because of love for Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Smith walked to the jury box after the verdict was announced and shook hands with the individual jurors. She then embraced her 83-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Anna Witterin.

Mrs. Smith had denied vigorously Wolf's story.

Woodward Slaying Is Held Accidental

MINEOLA, N.Y., Nov. 4 (AP)—After six days of investigation, authorities said today they've found no evidence that Mrs. Ann Woodward's slaying of her millionaire-sportsman husband was anything but an accident.

Nothing has come up "to change my opinion that the slaying was accidental," said Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank Gulota.

At the same time, detectives still were digging into the society couple's background, questioning friend and associates, examining business records and making other checks that might shed light on the case.

Chief Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, also reporting no indications that the shooting was other than an accident, said he has no plans to question Mrs. Woodward again until there is some concrete basis for it.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4 (AP)—Actress Lana Turner is recovering at home today from minor surgery for removal of a benign tumor, her studio said.

The surgery was performed Wednesday at St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica. She went home yesterday.

Rep. Richards Plans To Retire Next Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Rep. Richards (D-SC), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said today he is retiring from Congress next year because, "I never wanted to stay until I'm old." He is 61.

Richards will have served 24 years as a member of the House when he steps out. He said he had no plans to run for governor or for the Senate but he said this did not rule out "the possibility of running for an office like a magistrate."

Ex-Racketeer Explosion Victim

"Booby Trap" Blast Kills Ex-Racketeer

Gangster-Type Explosion Shatters Truck

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 4 (AP)—Willie Bioff, 55, former Hollywood labor racketeer who once admitted extorting more than a million dollars from movie studios, died today in a gangster-type explosion at his Phoenix home.

The blast went off this morning as Bioff stepped on the starter of his pickup truck. He had just said goodbye to his wife, Laurie, with whom he had lived quietly here under an assumed name for several years.

"I don't know whether this was a professional gangster job or not," said Lt. Ralph Edmundson, chief criminal investigator of the sheriff's office. "But it certainly was an effective one."

Body Thrown 25 Feet

Police tonight were checking Bioff's background while awaiting the results of laboratory tests Edmundon said they expected would tell them what sort of explosive had been used.

The blast threw Bioff's mutilated body 25 feet and scattered wreckage over a radius of several hundred feet. It left only the twisted frame, the motor and the wheels of the truck.

The door of the garage was blown out, the roof shattered and windows in the Bioff home and several neighboring houses were broken. Jagged chunks of metal tore holes in the wall of a home 100 feet away. The blast rattled windows a mile away.

Served Prison Term

Bioff and Browne were convicted in November, 1941, on charges of extorting $550,000 from several motion picture studios. Bioff later testified before a grand jury in New York that he had received more than a million dollars from film producers as front man for an underworld syndicate.

Bioff was sentenced to 10 years and Browne to 8. Both were released in 1944, reportedly for providing testimony to the federal government that led to conviction of other members of the gang.

Tax Collecting Clerks Ordered To Look Unhappy

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4 (AP)—Employes of the county tax collector and assessor were ordered today not to smile or look happy in the presence of taxpayers.

Department heads handed out the unusual instructions as taxpayers continued to deluge their offices with complaints over increases in property tax bills. The bills were mailed two days ago.

As one supervisor explained to his staff: "After all, the taxpayers are unhappy, so we must be unhappy too."

Bender Expects Ike To Run Again

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) said today he is confident President Eisenhower will run again, but two Republican governors said they wouldn't make a guess either way.

One of the two, Gov. Walter J Kohler of Wisconsin, said he will become a "favorite son" candidate if Eisenhower doesn't indicate by March 2 he is willing to take the nomination again.

The other, Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, said his state's delegation at the 1956 convention will be for Eisenhower if he is a candidate, but otherwise will "look around."

Divorce Suit Filed By Rita Hayworth

RENO, Nev., Nov. 3 (AP)—Red-haired Rita Hayworth, the girl who has had everything but a happy home, filed a long-distance suit for divorce today from her fourth husband, singer Dick Haymes.

Rita's complaint that Dick has caused her "great unhappiness and injured her mental health" came by airmail from Paris, where she has spent the last month so her third husband, Prince Aly Khan, could visit their daughter, Yasmin.

The actress' attorney, William K. Woodburn, said she won't have to come back to Nevada to get the divorce, providing Haymes doesn't create a legal problem.

The decree can be obtained, said Woodburn, merely by sumitting Rita's deposition to the court.

Woman Four-Striper

NAPLES, Italy, Nov. 4 (AP)—Dr. Gioconda Rita Saraniero, 44, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was sworn in here today as a captain in the Medical Corps of the U. S. Navy. She is the only woman four-striper in the Navy's Medical Corps.

X-Ray Reveals Ike's Heart Still Normal In Size

DENVER, Nov. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower's doctors X-rayed his mending heart today and were "very pleased" at lack of an enlargement after a week of steadily increasing physical exertion.

On an otherwise quiet day for the chief executive, that was the major development in his condition—and an important and encouraging one. For there was a chance that the sitting up and walking which the President has been attempting on a greater scale daily might have been reflected in an expansion of his heart.

But the physicians reported in a medical bulletin at 11:45 a.m. MST, "The President's condition continues to be satisfactory" and the X-ray showed "his heart remains normal in size."

The X-ray examinations reinforced the probability that Eisenhower can be discharged from Fitzsimons Army Hospital a week from today to fly to Washington and then transfer a few days later to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Tomorrow's early morning hours will mark the end of six weeks of convalescence since the President's Sept. 24 heart attack.

For the American chief executive, this has been a week with more emphasis on social than on official visitors.

Flying into Denver today to see the President were two World War II comrades in arms, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, U. S. Army chief of staff, and British Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery, deputy commander of Allied forces in Europe.

Taylor and Mrs. Taylor had a late afternoon social date with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower. Taylor is on an inspection trip to military installations around the country, including those at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Montgomery will see the Eisenhowers tomorrow.

Song Writer Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4 (AP)—Herman Paley, who wrote more than 1,000 songs, including "Sympathy," "Billy," and "Keep on Smiling," died today in a hospital of a heart condition and complications. He was 76.

Pair Held For Swindling Industrialist Of $423,771

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP)—Two men were accused today of swindling an aging industrialist of $423,771 in a bizarre plot stemming from the 1929 stock market crash.

Authorities said the men were the core of a scheme involving eight or nine persons, including a woman.

The victim of the alleged swindle is Augustine J. Cunningham, 77, of Rochester, N.Y.

The Post Office Department said he paid the money to recover nonexistent patent rights of a fictitious scientist after being told he was a beneficiary of the scientist's will.

Held on charges of mail fraud were Patrick H. Lennon, 50-year old ex-convict and Leo F. Hampton, 74, both of New York.

Authorities described Lennon as "one of the slickest confidence men picked up in a long, long time."

They told this story:

Cunningham, who had lost $100,000 in the now defunct Intercity Radio and Telegraph Co. in the 1929 stock market crash, was approached about four years ago by one of the group and told he was named as one of several beneficiaries in the will of a "Dr. Randolph Parker."

"The bequests" consisted of rights and benefits supposedly arising out of various electronic patents taken out by Parker. Cunningham was told that the patents had a recovery value of about 60 million dollars but that in order to get the money, it would be necessary to buy up releases from the stockholders of the defunct company.

Thus, the industrialist was persuaded to advance $423,771 over a four-year period—or four times the amount he lost on the firm in the crash.

Molotov, On Tough Spot, To Fly Home

West Would Begin Reunification With Election Next Fall

GENEVA, Nov. 4 (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov rebuffed tonight a new Western proposal to begin reunification of Germany by nationwide elections next September. He will fly to Moscow tomorrow—possibly to receive new instructions.

The 65-year-old diplomat's disclosure that he will make a round trip to the Soviet capital during a three-day recess of the Geneva conference stirred immediate speculation that he may come back with revised ideas on the deadlocked German problem.

He turned down the West's newest German unification plan at today's Big Four session mainly on the ground it made no provision for European security. He promised he would "naturally study it carefully" and comment on it again next Tuesday.

Convenient Expense

It would be a normal thing for Molotov to fly back to Moscow at this time, to take part in the big annual celebration Sunday night on the eve of the October Revolution anniversary. It also, however, affords a convenient excuse for conferences with the rest of the Soviet collective leadership.

Western diplomatic sources said, that Molotov has appeared to be under rigid orders from Moscow, which allow him no room for maneuver in rejecting German unification. With 70 million divided Germans certain to blame bitterly the cold war side which denies their national aspirations, Molotov has been on a tough spot at Geneva.

Molotov repeated today his demand that the Communist East German government and the West German government be called in to discuss the reunification problem with the Big Four foreign ministers. He said the new Western unification plan, presented by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, "failed to conform" to the foreign ministers' directive from the summit conference last July.

Western Program

Submitted on the "joint initiative," of the three Western Powers and the Bonn Republic, the reunification proposal stated:

"1. Free and secret elections shall be held throughout Germany during September 1956, for the selection of representatives for an all-German National Assembly to draft a constitution and to form a government thereunder for a reunified Germany.

"2. Each of the four powers will designate a representative to a commission to prepare, in consultation with German experts, the electoral law for such elections, including effective provisions for safeguards and supervision to insure the freedom of such elections.

"3. The commission shall undertake its functions promptly and shall submit its report to the four powers by January 1956."

Cancer 'Phobia' View Disputed

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP)—Giving the public facts about early signs of cancer does "much more good than harm," Dr. Warren H. Cole of Chicago declared tonight in his presidential speech to the American College of Surgeons.

"Some physicians have the idea that giving lay people information about early symptoms of diseases such as cancer is apt to create a serious cancer phobia in many individuals," he said.

"I am definitely of the opinion that much more good than harm will come from this type of instruction in lay education.

"I firmly believe that if a physician cannot allay the fears of a patient after a thorough examination with negative findings, then either the physician has performed his duty ineffectually, or the patient is so emotionally disturbed that he would develop some other type of phobia anyway."

"Too often . . . patients with advanced cancer tell us they did not come earlier for therapy because the lesion caused them no pain and they did not want to 'bother' their physician. I see no better way of getting these patients to the physician early than to instill in them a certain fear of lumps throughout the body, at least sufficient fear to make them consult a physician as soon as a lump is discovered, or significant symptoms develop."

Jil Jarmyn, 23, who once was Barry's girl friend, found a back door of his house open and wandered in to find Miss Hayward, 34, cosily ensconced in the bedroom wearing polka dot pajamas, she told reporters and a city attorney's representative.

She alleged that the red-haired actress, who has been dating Barry recently, made an "unprovoked assault" upon her resulting in whacks on the head, a bitten thumb, buttons torn from her blouse and a bruise on her leg when she fell over a coffee table.

The scene was the North Hollywood home of Barry yesterday noon. Miss Hayward, 34, who has been dating Barry recently, was having coffee with him when Miss Jarmyn walked in, the door being open. She had known Barry for about five months but told a reporter that they had had a dispute and ended a budding romance.

When Miss Jarmyn arrived, Miss Hayward evidently said something to the customary effect of "who is this woman" and in practically no time a fight was on, with Barry attempting the role of peacemaker. His comment today was "No comment."

Miss Hayward, whose divorce from Jess Barker after a sensational trial is being appealed by Barker, described the whole thing as "a tempest in a very small teapot."

Soviet Agrees To Exchange Of Clergymen

Rev. Louis F. Dion Will Go To Moscow As Dispute Settled

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The United States today announced agreement with Russia on an exchange of clergymen to tend the spiritual needs of Americans in the Soviet Union and Russians in the United States.

The agreement is strictly reciprocal:

Archbishop Boris of the Russian Orthodox Church will come to the United States.

Six-Month Dispute Ends

Neither of their entry visas carries a termination date so they can stay as long as the two governments are willing to let them.

The announcement ends a six-month deadlock. Father Dion's predecessor, the Rev. Georges Bissonnette, was ejected from Russia last March after Archbishop Boris was given his walking papers by the United States.

The new agreement confines Father Dion, like Father Bissonnette a member of the Assumptionist order, to ministering solely to Americans inside Russia—no Russian citizens. Likewise, Archbishop Boris is authorized only "to minister to the religious needs of Soviet nationals." That means the Archbishop no longer could deal with Americans who follow the teachings of the Russian Orthodox Church, such as he did earlier this year.

400 Russians In U. S.

Confining the two clerics to their own nationals sharply limits the number of persons involved. State Department records show there are about 400 Russians in the United States, about half of them in Washington and the other half in New York City. Fewer than 150 Americans are in Russia. In both cases, the figures include wives and children of official personnel.

Widow Is Freed In Bomb Slaying

MCMINNVILLE, Ore. Nov. 4 (AP)—Attractive Mrs. Marjorie Smith was found innocent today of the car bomb slaying of her husband in Portland April 21.

A jury of nine men and three women acquitted her this morning of a first degree murder charge after deliberating more than 15 hours. The case went to the jury Wednesday night.

The prosecution had demanded the death penalty in the trial, during which Victor Laurence Wolf, 45, testified that Mrs. Smith, 34, plotted the death of her husband, Kermit, an attorney.

Wolf said he wired the fatal bomb in Smith's car at her urging because of love for Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Smith walked to the jury box after the verdict was announced and shook hands with the individual jurors. She then embraced her 83-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Anna Witterin.

Mrs. Smith had denied vigorously Wolf's story.

Woodward Slaying Is Held Accidental

MINEOLA, N.Y., Nov. 4 (AP)—After six days of investigation, authorities said today they've found no evidence that Mrs. Ann Woodward's slaying of her millionaire-sportsman husband was anything but an accident.

Nothing has come up "to change my opinion that the slaying was accidental," said Nassau County Dist. Atty. Frank Gulota.

At the same time, detectives still were digging into the society couple's background, questioning friend and associates, examining business records and making other checks that might shed light on the case.

Chief Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, also reporting no indications that the shooting was other than an accident, said he has no plans to question Mrs. Woodward again until there is some concrete basis for it.

Ex-Racketeer Explosion Victim

Gangster-Type Explosion Shatters Truck

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 4 (AP)—Willie Bioff, 55, former Hollywood labor racketeer who once admitted extorting more than a million dollars from movie studios, died today in a gangster-type explosion at his Phoenix home.

The blast went off this morning as Bioff stepped on the starter of his pickup truck. He had just said goodbye to his wife, Laurie, with whom he had lived quietly here under an assumed name for several years.

"I don't know whether this was a professional gangster job or not," said Lt. Ralph Edmundson, chief criminal investigator of the sheriff's office. "But it certainly was an effective one."

Body Thrown 25 Feet

Police tonight were checking Bioff's background while awaiting the results of laboratory tests Edmundon said they expected would tell them what sort of explosive had been used.

The blast threw Bioff's mutilated body 25 feet and scattered wreckage over a radius of several hundred feet. It left only the twisted frame, the motor and the wheels of the truck.

The door of the garage was blown out, the roof shattered and windows in the Bioff home and several neighboring houses were broken. Jagged chunks of metal tore holes in the wall of a home 100 feet away. The blast rattled windows a mile away.

Served Prison Term

Bioff and Browne were convicted in November, 1941, on charges of extorting $550,000 from several motion picture studios. Bioff later testified before a grand jury in New York that he had received more than a million dollars from film producers as front man for an underworld syndicate.

Bioff was sentenced to 10 years and Browne to 8. Both were released in 1944, reportedly for providing testimony to the federal government that led to conviction of other members of the gang.

Divorce Suit Filed By Rita Hayworth

RENO, Nev., Nov. 3 (AP)—Red-haired Rita Hayworth, the girl who has had everything but a happy home, filed a long-distance suit for divorce today from her fourth husband, singer Dick Haymes.

Rita's complaint that Dick has caused her "great unhappiness and injured her mental health" came by airmail from Paris, where she has spent the last month so her third husband, Prince Aly Khan, could visit their daughter, Yasmin.

The actress' attorney, William K. Woodburn, said she won't have to come back to Nevada to get the divorce, providing Haymes doesn't create a legal problem.

The decree can be obtained, said Woodburn, merely by sumitting Rita's deposition to the court.

Woman Four-Striper

Tax Collecting Clerks Ordered To Look Unhappy

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4 (AP)—Employes of the county tax collector and assessor were ordered today not to smile or look happy in the presence of taxpayers.

Department heads handed out the unusual instructions as taxpayers continued to deluge their offices with complaints over increases in property tax bills. The bills were mailed two days ago.

As one supervisor explained to his staff: "After all, the taxpayers are unhappy, so we must be unhappy too."

Bender Expects Ike To Run Again

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) said today he is confident President Eisenhower will run again, but two Republican governors said they wouldn't make a guess either way.

One of the two, Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin, said he will become a "favorite son" candidate if Eisenhower doesn't indicate by March 2 he is willing to take the nomination again.

The other, Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, said his state's delegation at the 1956 convention will be for Eisenhower if he is a candidate, but otherwise will "look around."

X-Ray Reveals Ike's Heart Still Normal In Size

DENVER, Nov. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower's doctors X-rayed his mending heart today and were "very pleased" at lack of an enlargement after a week of steadily increasing physical exertion.

On an otherwise quiet day for the chief executive, that was the major development in his condition—and an important and encouraging one. For there was a chance that the sitting up and walking which the President has been attempting on a greater scale daily might have been reflected in an expansion of his heart.

But the physicians reported in a medical bulletin at 11:45 a.m. MST, "The President's condition continues to be satisfactory" and the X-ray showed "his heart remains normal in size."

The X-ray examinations reinforced the probability that Eisenhower can be discharged from Fitzsimons Army Hospital a week from today to fly to Washington and then transfer a few days later to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Tomorrow's early morning hours will mark the end of six weeks of convalescence since the President's Sept. 24 heart attack.

For the American chief executive, this has been a week with more emphasis on social than on official visitors.

Flying into Denver today to see the President were two World War II comrades in arms, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, U. S. Army chief of staff, and British Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery, deputy commander of Allied forces in Europe.

Taylor and Mrs. Taylor had a late afternoon social date with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower. Taylor is on an inspection trip to military installations around the country, including those at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Montgomery will see the Eisenhowers tomorrow.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4 (AP)—Herman Paley, who wrote more than 1,000 songs, including "Sympathy," "Billy," and "Keep on Smiling," died today in a hospital of a heart condition and complications. He was 76.

Pair Held For Swindling Industrialist Of $423,771

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — Two men were accused today of swindling an aging industrialist of $423,771 in a bizarre plot stemming from the 1929 stock market crash.

Authorities said the men were the core of a scheme involving eight or nine persons, including a woman.

The victim of the alleged swindle is Augustine J. Cunningham, 77, of Rochester, N.Y.

The Post Office Department said he paid the money to recover nonexistent patent rights of a fictitious scientist after being told he was a beneficiary of the scientist's will.

Held on charges of mail fraud were Patrick H. Lennon, 50-year old ex-convict and Leo F. Hampton, 74, both of New York.

Authorities described Lennon as "one of the slickest confidence men picked up in a long, long time."

They told this story:

Cunningham, who had lost $100,000 in the now defunct Intercity Radio and Telegraph Co. in the 1929 stock market crash, was approached about four years ago by one of the group and told he was named as one of several beneficiaries in the will of a "Dr. Randolph Parker."

"The bequests" consisted of rights and benefits supposedly arising out of various electronic patents taken out by Parker. Cunningham was told that the patents had a recovery value of about 60 million dollars but that in order to get the money, it would be necessary to buy up releases from the stockholders of the defunct company.

Thus, the industrialist was persuaded to advance $423,771 over a four-year period—or four times the amount he lost on the firm in the crash.

Molotov, On Tough Spot, To Fly Home

GENEVA, Nov. 4 (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov rebuffed tonight a new Western proposal to begin reunification of Germany by nationwide elections next September. He will fly to Moscow tomorrow—possibly to receive new instructions.

The 65-year-old diplomat's disclosure that he will make a round trip to the Soviet capital during a three-day recess of the Geneva conference stirred immediate speculation that he may come back with revised ideas on the deadlocked German problem.

He turned down the West's newest German unification plan at today's Big Four session mainly on the ground it made no provision for European security. He promised he would "naturally study it carefully" and comment on it again next Tuesday.

Convenient Expense

It would be a normal thing for Molotov to fly back to Moscow at this time, to take part in the big annual celebration Sunday night on the eve of the October Revolution anniversary. It also, however, affords a convenient excuse for conferences with the rest of the Soviet collective leadership.

Western diplomatic sources said, that Molotov has appeared to be under rigid orders from Moscow, which allow him no room for maneuver in rejecting German unification. With 70 million divided Germans certain to blame bitterly the cold war side which denies their national aspirations, Molotov has been on a tough spot at Geneva.

Molotov repeated today his demand that the Communist East German government and the West German government be called in to discuss the reunification problem with the Big Four foreign ministers. He said the new Western unification plan, presented by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, "failed to conform" to the foreign ministers' directive from the summit conference last July.

Western Program

Submitted on the "joint initiative," of the three Western Powers and the Bonn Republic, the reunification proposal stated:

"1. Free and secret elections shall be held throughout Germany during September 1956, for the selection of representatives for an all-German National Assembly to draft a constitution and to form a government thereunder for a reunified Germany.

"2. Each of the four powers will designate a representative to a commission to prepare, in consultation with German experts, the electoral law for such elections, including effective provisions for safeguards and supervision to insure the freedom of such elections.

"3. The commission shall undertake its functions promptly and shall submit its report to the four powers by January 1956."

Cancer 'Phobia' View Disputed

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP)—Giving the public facts about early signs of cancer does "much more good than harm," Dr. Warren H. Cole of Chicago declared tonight in his presidential speech to the American College of Surgeons.

"Some physicians have the idea that giving lay people information about early symptoms of diseases such as cancer is apt to create a serious cancer phobia in many individuals," he said.

"I am definitely of the opinion that much more good than harm will come from this type of instruction in lay education.

"I firmly believe that if a physician cannot allay the fears of a patient after a thorough examination with negative findings, then either the physician has performed his duty ineffectually, or the patient is so emotionally disturbed that he would develop some other type of phobia anyway."

"Too often . . . patients with advanced cancer tell us they did not come earlier for therapy because the lesion caused them no pain and they did not want to 'bother' their physician. I see no better way of getting these patients to the physician early than to instill in them a certain fear of lumps throughout the body, at least sufficient fear to make them consult a physician as soon as a lump is discovered, or significant symptoms develop."

Red-Socialist Bloc Proposed In France

PARIS, Nov. 4 (AP)—French Communists offered today to team up with the Socialists in the general elections proposed for December. Their idea is that both leftist parties could thereby increase their strength in Parliament.

Jacques Duclos, acting head of the Communist party, made the offer. He said the Communists and Socialists together could get a majority in some departments (counties). And—under the present election law—any allied parties which get more than half the votes of a department get all its seats in the National Assembly.

But there are a couple of potential snags:

1. Demands in Parliament for a new election law.

2. Socialist coolness to past wooing by the Communists.

The Socialist party is the largest in the National Assembly. Outside the government, though not always in opposition, it controls 105 of the 627 seats. The Communists, generally snubbed by other parties since 1947, rank third with 98 seats.

In between, the Radical (moderate) Socialists and deputies affiliated with them control 100. Though often warring among themselves, the Radical Socialists form a hefty part of the center bloc that sustains French governments. It is the party of both Premier Edgar Faure and his predecessor, Pierre Mendes-France, the college day friends who nowadays do not always see eye-to-eye.

Faure, for instance, advanced the idea of moving up to December the date for the next election, originally scheduled for June 1956. With unheralded support from 88 Communist deputies, the National Assembly approved his plan 330-211 early Thursday.

But the Radical Socialist party fought a rear guard action under Mendes-France's leadership today against the idea of a December election.

A Committee on General Policies of the party's annual Congress drew up a resolution calling on Radical Socialist ministers—meaning Faure and others of the party within his Cabinet—to resign either from the government or the party if elections are to be held under the present law.

Tactical A-Weapons Not "Mass Killers"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The chief of the Tactical Air Command said today that the new atomic battlefield weapons should be no greater menace to civilian populations than any conventional bomb or artillery barrage.

Gen. Otto P. Weyland made that comment during a news conference on plans for Exercise Sagebrush in Louisiana, biggest joint peacetime Army-Air Force Maneuver, which will be under Weyland's direction.

Weyland said heavy emphasis will be placed during the maneuvers on modern weapons used, in simulated but realistic form, by the 110,000 Army troops and 800 planes in big-scale mock war.

End To Nuclear Weapons Tests Urged By Syria

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 4 (AP)—Syria appealed to the United Nations today to ask an end to tests of nuclear weapons. Britain, speaking for the West, rejected the plea.

The introduction of new proposals and disagreement over the ban on A-bomb and H-bomb tests delayed a vote in the U.N. Political Committee on a Western proposal to set up an international committee of scientists to study the dangers of atomic radiation.

Ahmed Shukairy of Syria told the committee that in making the proposal he was speaking for countries motivated by the "legitimate dreadful fear we share with the rest of the world" over the future of mankind in the atomic age.

These countries, he acknowledged, had "little or no specific contribution to make."

Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain, in rejecting Shukairy's views, said that banning of nuclear tests was a subject for the debate on disarmament.

The Soviet Union wants a ban on nuclear weapons and their testing written into the resolution setting up the committee of scientists. This has been attacked by the United States as an attempt to inject long established Soviet views into an issue which does not concern disarmament.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon voiced support for any proposal which would ban nuclear explosions.

The committee adjourned until 10:30 a.m. Monday at which time the delegates hope to get a vote.

Popcorn Popping, Fireman Hopping

John L. Strickland, owner of the plant, said his loss included about one-million pounds of popcorn.

The five-alarm blaze also destroyed a storage building and damaged a processing building and three silos. No injuries were reported.

Eleven fire companies fought the flames about an hour before Deputy Chief F. Lee Cockey of Baltimore County said the fire was under control.

Second Salk Shots Set

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—Washington County pupils who got their first polio shots in the spring will get second shots beginning Nov. 15, Dr. W. Ross Cameron, city-county health officer said today. About 3,500 first and second graders got the first Salk shot.

Antibiotics May Hinder Recovery In Some Cases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—A government scientist said today there is evidence suggesting that the use of antibiotic drugs "may actually delay recovery" in cases of the common cold, influenza, polio, measles and mumps.

The scientist, Dr. Barbara Moulton of the Food and Drug Administration, said the same applies to herpangina, a virus ailment somewhat resembling a "strep" sore throat.

But she said the use of antibiotics in three other virus diseases—smallpox, chickenpox and shingles, may be helpful "because of their effects upon secondary bacterial infection."

She made the statements at the closing session of the third annual conference on antibiotics sponsored by FDA.

Teamster Union Opens Lavish Headquarters

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The big and rich AFL Teamsters Union dedicated its resplendent new five-million-dollar headquarters today, just across a plaza from the United States Capitol.

Teamster President Dave Beck told the crowd he had heard suggestions the building was "perhaps too grand" for a labor union.

Beck rejected that, saying it was actually "a great tribute to our country that a union could build a structure of this kind."

"What a wonderful thing," he added, "if this could happen in Russia."

The four-story building is modernistic, in white marble. Everything about it is luxurious, from the thick rugs to the tinted picture windows to the penthouse.

The teamsters now number 1,400,000 members, most of them truck drivers. It has a treasury of 32 million dollars.

And the new building is paid for. No mortgage.

AFL President George Meany, speaking at the dedication, said the new building "has the forward look that inspires our whole trade union movement today."

The crowd of several thousand included movie stars Walter Pidgeon, Pat O'Brien and Margaret Whiting. Beck pointed out in his remarks that these three were AFL union members too, and so were members of the band that played for the occasion.

Garrett County Man Hurt In Car Wreck

KITZMILLER — A 73-year-old man was one of three persons who escaped death recently when they were trapped 15 minutes in their wrecked car which rolled down a 75-foot embankment onto B&O Railroad tracks at Halethorpe, near Baltimore.

Benjamin F. Davis was a passenger in the car with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Harding of Richmond, Va. Harding, 50, Mrs. Estine D. Harding, and Davis were treated at St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore for cuts and bruises.

Halethorpe police who used crowbars to extricate the trio from the car, said they had a "remarkable escape from death."

The reason: the candidates listed were those running for municipal office in neighboring Manville.

Paul J. Randall Becomes Major In State Police

PIKESVILLE, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of State Police, today announced that Capt. Paul J. Randall has been promoted to the rank of major.

The organizational chart of the department shows the executive officer as second in command. Maj. William H. Weber, field force commander, was recently designated executive officer, retaining the field command he was given in 1942.

Randall will have the title of adjutant. He will be third in command, Munshower said, assuming the responsibilities of the superintendent and executive officer in their absences.

Randall joined the department in June of 1933. He previously worked in the mechanical department of the Washington Evening Star.

He was assigned to the Easton barracks after becoming a trooper, and assumed command of that barracks on May 1, 1940. Since Nov. 6, 1942, he has been troop commander of the Eastern Shore division.

The new major lives in Easton with his wife and daughter. Randall topped a list of five high scorers in the examination for the promotion with a score of 90.03. By law, any of the five could have been appointed.

Capt. Wilbour H. Conroy, commander of the State Police training school, was second with a score of 89.30. Others in the top five were Capt. Martin M. Puncke, commander of the quartermaster division at headquarters here, 77.93; Capt. George E. Davidson, commander of the division of investigation and identification, 87.28, and Capt. Charles W. Magaha, commander of the western troop, 84.78.

Wish Comes True After 28 Years

PLANT CITY, Fla., Nov. 4 (AP)—One bright spring day back in 1927 Victor Smith was walking his best girl, Robbie Sims, home from grammar school.

They looked at the house again, and at each other. Then came a solemn vow they some day would have a Colonial house like it.

So Victor found a piece of glass and scratched his name and date in the concrete—just to seal the bargain.

The initials? They're still there.

Hagerstown has upped the rate from 36 cents a thousand gallons to 60 cents. It originally had planned to put it at 75 cents.

Two Die As Small Track Machine Derails Freight

FREDERICK, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—A little motor scooter track machine got in the way of a big freight train on the Baltimore and Ohio's old main line near here today and two railroaders were killed.

The dead:

Carl F. Stoots, 36, of Baltimore, firemen on the three-unit diesel pulling a 129-car eastbound coal train. He jumped from the locomotive in fear it would leave the tracks.

The locomotive and four cars were partly derailed but remained upright. The next 22 cars jumped the rails and skewed along the right of way in a spectacular pile-up which blocked the double track freight line.

Durward K. Sines, 44, of Frederick, another member of the ballast regulator crew, was described as in fair condition at Frederick Memorial Hospital.

Arch R. Burke of Mount Airy, Md., flagman on the scooter, and Lauro L. Delciello, head brakeman on the freight, were treated for minor injuries and released.

The accident was at the Brush Creek Bridge about six miles southeast of Frederick and a mile west of Ijamsville. The old main line is used for freight only, connecting Baltimore with Point of Rocks, Md., and bypassing Washington.

The coal train overtook the ballast regulator at the east end of the 30-foot bridge and mangled it down through the trestlework into the water. Fawley's battered body was recovered from the creek.

Stoots jumped while the locomotive still was plunging ahead and died of his injuries several hours later in the hospital here.

The diesel finally stopped about 200 yards on down the track in the mouth of Hartman's Tunnel. William H. Harnsberger of Baltimore was the engineer.

Wreck crews from Baltimore and Brunswick, Md., were dispatched to the scene to clear the tangle. They expected to have one track open again by Saturday afternoon. No traffic delays were expected.

Britain Honors 46 Americans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The British today conferred some of their top honors upon 46 Americans, from GIs to generals, for deeds of daring or distinguished command of United Nations forces in Korean fighting.

Individual acts of heroism included daring helicopter rescues at sea and demolition work ahead of invasion forces.

Honorary knighthoods in the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire were bestowed upon two commanding generals.

These top honors went to Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now Army chief of staff, who commanded the multination 8th Army in Korea, and to Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., who was 5th Air Force commander early in the Korean fighting.

Three lieutenant generals who followed Partridge as 5th Air Force commanders were named honorary companions of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath.

Distinguished Flying Crosses went to two American aces, Maj. James J. Jabara and Col. Robert P. Baldwin, both of the 4750th Air Defense Squadron, Yuma, Ariz. Jabara was credited with knocking down 15 enemy planes and Baldwin five.

Baltimore Survival Committee Named

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin has named a committee to plan for the evacuation of the Baltimore area in case of enemy attack.

The committee includes civil defense directors from Baltimore and five nearby counties: Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Carroll, Howard and Harford.

Defense officials said the committee was given authority to participate in a $10-million Federal survival plan.

Another group has been working for months on various phases of evacuation plans. The new committee will coordinate functions of this year, according to State Civil Defense Director Sherley Ewing.

Red-Socialist Bloc Proposed In France

PARIS, Nov. 4 (AP)—French Communists offered today to team up with the Socialists in the general elections proposed for December. Their idea is that both leftist parties could thereby increase their strength in Parliament.

Jacques Duclos, acting head of the Communist party, made the offer. He said the Communists and Socialists together could get a majority in some departments (counties). And—under the present election law—any allied parties which get more than half the votes of a department get all its seats in the National Assembly.

But there are a couple of potential snags:

1. Demands in Parliament for a new election law.

2. Socialist coolness to past wooing by the Communists.

The Socialist party is the largest in the National Assembly. Outside the government, though not always in opposition, it controls 105 of the 627 seats. The Communists, generally snubbed by other parties since 1947, rank third with 98 seats.

In between, the Radical (moderate) Socialists and deputies affiliated with them control 100. Though often warring among themselves, the Radical Socialists form a hefty part of the center bloc that sustains French governments. It is the party of both Premier Edgar Faure and his predecessor, Pierre Mendes-France, the college day friends who nowadays do not always see eye-to-eye.

Faure, for instance, advanced the idea of moving up to December the date for the next election, originally scheduled for June 1956. With unheralded support from 88 Communist deputies, the National Assembly approved his plan 330-211 early Thursday.

But the Radical Socialist party fought a rear guard action under Mendes-France's leadership today against the idea of a December election.

A Committee on General Policies of the party's annual Congress drew up a resolution calling on Radical Socialist ministers—meaning Faure and others of the party within his Cabinet—to resign either from the government or the party if elections are to be held under the present law.

Tactical A-Weapons Not "Mass Killers"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The chief of the Tactical Air Command said today that the new atomic battlefield weapons should be no greater menace to civilian populations than any conventional bomb or artillery barrage.

Gen. Otto P. Weyland made that comment during a news conference on plans for Exercise Sagebrush in Louisiana, biggest joint peacetime Army-Air Force Maneuver, which will be under Weyland's direction.

Weyland said heavy emphasis will be placed during the maneuvers on modern weapons used, in simulated but realistic form, by the 110,000 Army troops and 800 planes in big-scale mock war.

End To Nuclear Weapons Tests Urged By Syria

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 4 (AP)—Syria appealed to the United Nations today to ask an end to tests of nuclear weapons. Britain, speaking for the West, rejected the plea.

The introduction of new proposals and disagreement over the ban on A-bomb and H-bomb tests delayed a vote in the U.N. Political Committee on a Western proposal to set up an international committee of scientists to study the dangers of atomic radiation.

Ahmed Shukairy of Syria told the committee that in making the proposal he was speaking for countries motivated by the "legitimate dreadful fear we share with the rest of the world" over the future of mankind in the atomic age.

These countries, he acknowledged, had "little or no specific contribution to make."

Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain, in rejecting Shukairy's views, said that banning of nuclear tests was a subject for the debate on disarmament.

The Soviet Union wants a ban on nuclear weapons and their testing written into the resolution setting up the committee of scientists. This has been attacked by the United States as an attempt to inject long established Soviet views into an issue which does not concern disarmament.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon voiced support for any proposal which would ban nuclear explosions.

The committee adjourned until 10:30 a.m. Monday at which time the delegates hope to get a vote.

Popcorn Popping, Fireman Hopping

John L. Strickland, owner of the plant, said his loss included about one-million pounds of popcorn.

The five-alarm blaze also destroyed a storage building and damaged a processing building and three silos. No injuries were reported.

Eleven fire companies fought the flames about an hour before Deputy Chief F. Lee Cockey of Baltimore County said the fire was under control.

Second Salk Shots Set

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—Washington County pupils who got their first polio shots in the spring will get second shots beginning Nov. 15, Dr. W. Ross Cameron, city-county health officer said today. About 3,500 first and second graders got the first Salk shot.

Antibiotics May Hinder Recovery In Some Cases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—A government scientist said today there is evidence suggesting that the use of antibiotic drugs "may actually delay recovery" in cases of the common cold, influenza, polio, measles and mumps.

The scientist, Dr. Barbara Moulton of the Food and Drug Administration, said the same applies to herpangina, a virus ailment somewhat resembling a "strep" sore throat.

But she said the use of antibiotics in three other virus diseases—smallpox, chickenpox and shingles, may be helpful "because of their effects upon secondary bacterial infection."

She made the statements at the closing session of the third annual conference on antibiotics sponsored by FDA.

Teamster Union Opens Lavish Headquarters

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The big and rich AFL Teamsters Union dedicated its resplendent new five-million-dollar headquarters today, just across a plaza from the United States Capitol.

Teamster President Dave Beck told the crowd he had heard suggestions the building was "perhaps too grand" for a labor union.

Beck rejected that, saying it was actually "a great tribute to our country that a union could build a structure of this kind."

"What a wonderful thing," he added, "if this could happen in Russia."

The four-story building is modernistic, in white marble. Everything about it is luxurious, from the thick rugs to the tinted picture windows to the penthouse.

The teamsters now number 1,400,000 members, most of them truck drivers. It has a treasury of 32 million dollars.

And the new building is paid for. No mortgage.

AFL President George Meany, speaking at the dedication, said the new building "has the forward look that inspires our whole trade union movement today."

The crowd of several thousand included movie stars Walter Pidgeon, Pat O'Brien and Margaret Whiting. Beck pointed out in his remarks that these three were AFL union members too, and so were members of the band that played for the occasion.

BOUND BROOK, N.J., Nov. 4 (AP)—Voters got a shock when they opened their sample election ballots in the 1st Election District yesterday.

The reason: the candidates listed were those running for municipal office in neighboring Manville.

Paul J. Randall Becomes Major In State Police

PIKESVILLE, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of State Police, today announced that Capt. Paul J. Randall has been promoted to the rank of major.

The organizational chart of the department shows the executive officer as second in command. Maj. William H. Weber, field force commander, was recently designated executive officer, retaining the field command he was given in 1942.

Randall will have the title of adjutant. He will be third in command, Munshower said, assuming the responsibilities of the superintendent and executive officer in their absences.

Randall joined the department in June of 1933. He previously worked in the mechanical department of the Washington Evening Star.

He was assigned to the Easton barracks after becoming a trooper, and assumed command of that barracks on May 1, 1940. Since Nov. 6, 1942, he has been troop commander of the Eastern Shore division.

The new major lives in Easton with his wife and daughter. Randall topped a list of five high scorers in the examination for the promotion with a score of 90.03. By law, any of the five could have been appointed.

Capt. Wilbour H. Conroy, commander of the State Police training school, was second with a score of 89.30. Others in the top five were Capt. Martin M. Puncke, commander of the quartermaster division at headquarters here, 77.93; Capt. George E. Davidson, commander of the division of investigation and identification, 87.28, and Capt. Charles W. Magaha, commander of the western troop, 84.78.

Wish Comes True After 28 Years

PLANT CITY, Fla., Nov. 4 (AP)—One bright spring day back in 1927 Victor Smith was walking his best girl, Robbie Sims, home from grammar school.

They looked at the house again, and at each other. Then came a solemn vow they some day would have a Colonial house like it.

So Victor found a piece of glass and scratched his name and date in the concrete—just to seal the bargain.

Hagerstown Water Rate Hike Opposed

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—The Washington County Commissioners said today they will ask the Maryland Public Service Commission to review the higher water rate set by Hagerstown for county customers.

Hagerstown has upped the rate from 36 cents a thousand gallons to 60 cents. It originally had planned to put it at 75 cents.

Two Die As Small Track Machine Derails Freight

FREDERICK, Md., Nov. 4 (AP)—A little motor scooter track machine got in the way of a big freight train on the Baltimore and Ohio's old main line near here today and two railroaders were killed.

The dead:

Jack R. Fawley, 41, of Frederick, head of the three-man crew operating the ballast regulator, an oversized handcar used for track maintenance.

Carl F. Stoots, 36, of Baltimore, firemen on the three-unit diesel pulling a 129-car eastbound coal train. He jumped from the locomotive in fear it would leave the tracks.

The locomotive and four cars were partly derailed but remained upright. The next 22 cars jumped the rails and skewed along the right of way in a spectacular pile-up which blocked the double track freight line.

Durward K. Sines, 44, of Frederick, another member of the ballast regulator crew, was described as in fair condition at Frederick Memorial Hospital.

Arch R. Burke of Mount Airy, Md., flagman on the scooter, and Lauro L. Delciello, head brakeman on the freight, were treated for minor injuries and released.

The accident was at the Brush Creek Bridge about six miles southeast of Frederick and a mile west of Ijamsville. The old main line is used for freight only, connecting Baltimore with Point of Rocks, Md., and bypassing Washington.

The coal train overtook the ballast regulator at the east end of the 30-foot bridge and mangled it down through the trestlework into the water. Fawley's battered body was recovered from the creek.

Stoots jumped while the locomotive still was plunging ahead and died of his injuries several hours later in the hospital here.

The diesel finally stopped about 200 yards on down the track in the mouth of Hartman's Tunnel. William H. Harnsberger of Baltimore was the engineer.

Wreck crews from Baltimore and Brunswick, Md., were dispatched to the scene to clear the tangle. They expected to have one track open again by Saturday afternoon. No traffic delays were expected.

These top honors went to Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now Army chief of staff, who commanded the multination 8th Army in Korea, and to Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., who was 5th Air Force commander early in the Korean fighting.

Three lieutenant generals who followed Partridge as 5th Air Force commanders were named honorary companions of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath.

Distinguished Flying Crosses went to two American aces, Maj. James J. Jabara and Col. Robert P. Baldwin, both of the 4750th Air Defense Squadron, Yuma, Ariz. Jabara was credited with knocking down 15 enemy planes and Baldwin five.

The committee includes civil defense directors from Baltimore and five nearby counties: Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Carroll, Howard and Harford.

Defense officials said the committee was given authority to participate in a $10-million Federal survival plan.

Another group has been working for months on various phases of evacuation plans. The new committee will coordinate functions of this year, according to State Civil Defense Director Sherley Ewing.

The Girl In The Red Velvet Swing

— BY —

ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHNS

CONCLUSION

In 1906, the Harry K. Thaw-Stanford White murder case rocked America. Because it involved a man of great consequence, another of great wealth and a girl—Evelyn Nesbit—of extraordinary beauty it remains unique in the annals of crime.

Because of the new interest in this passionate story, what follows has been re-created from the actual reports of the trial and from personal interviews with Miss Nesbit.

Irvin Cobb, great author-reporter who wrote 10,000 words a day on it, told me that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was the celebrated Thaw trial.

Insanity experts, legal duels, the defendant's society-leader mother, the multi-millionaire defendant himself, the ghost of that famous architect and man-about-town Stanford White, who naturally haunted his own murder trial, all mere background for the incredible magic of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

Right after the murder, Harry Thaw said, "I did it because he had ruined my wife." This had been headlined till everybody in the United States knew about it. With no movies, radio, television, people were dependent for drama, excitment and entertainment on road companies or real life stories in newspaper and magazines. No roadhouses or dance halls where respectable people could be seen. No cocktail lounges; if there had been a woman who took a drink of hard liquor she branded herself a harlot. Thus, such a murder case as this one, involving the most beautiful girl in the world, the genius, the heir to millions in a love triangle of shocking nature was more widely discussed, it was their only touch with such things. People took violent sides.

Was White indeed The Beast and Thaw a just avenger of good American womanhood? Was Evelyn gold-digger and vampire, or innocent victim? Was Thaw a degenerate or a man driven mad by the wrong done an innocent girl he loved? "I couldn't stand it any longer," he said, "when I saw White sitting there, fat and healthy and successful and my poor, frail little Evelyn—."

Behind Scenes Battle

So for months the country discussed whether poor, frail little Evelyn could or would take the stand and bare her shame in her husband's defense. This great controversy still raged when Harry Thaw went to the bar, charged with murder in the first degree carrying the death penalty.

Delmas soon made plain his Dementia Americana defense, the old Unwritten Law, a species of insanity which makes a man believe that whoever stains the virtue of his wife has forfeited protection of human laws. But how could this work unless Evelyn Nesbit Thaw told the 12 good men and true the story herself? So, from the first moment this question was asked every eye was upon the little figure in blue in that courtroom, looking Irvin Cobb assured me, not more than 15-years-old though she was then past 20.

"I didn't want to take the stand," she said the other day, "I didn't want to tell any story to save Harry Thaw's life. I knew about William Travers Jerome. He'd broken strong men on the stand. I was scared almost to death. When I thought of his cross-examining me, asking me all those questions, I—I couldn't sleep at all. Of course my mother-in-law, and my sisters-in-law, they only cared about Harry, not to have their brother and son, a Thaw, go to the chair. Or be judged insane. They kept at me day and night."

Evelyn had no one. Her best friend Stanford White was dead. Harry Thaw had killed him. She'd seen him do it. Her mother, remarried, was in Pittsburgh. The great shock of the trial for Evelyn was when Jerome betrayed the notes he was consulting in his vicious attack on Evelyn had been sent to him by her mother.

Went Blindly To Fate

"I told her myself the night before she went on the stand," Delmas told me, when I interviewed him, "that without her testimony Thaw had to go to the chair. She cried, she pleaded, she refused, she kept saying are you sure? I said I was, she kept saying I'm so sorry for us all."

To the last moment in the courtroom the great Charles Dana Gibson pleaded with her not to go on the stand. "It will ruin you," he said.

But she went blindly to her fate and no one can tell it as well as Irvin Cobb did on the day itself, not even Evelyn.

"Call Mrs. Thaw," Delmas said. She came, a slim, pale little woman, white, cold, outwardly calm, she slipped into the big chair and nestled there almost like a tired child. Her hands dropped into her lap. There was something pitiably small and weak about the girl sitting there ready to crucify herself for the sake of her husband."

"Why did you do it?" I asked Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. I knew she'd known Thaw was insane, she'd experienced his cruelty. He'd killed the man she loved. When he did that and so dragged her into public shame, the spotlight of that murder trial and witness stand, he also had betrayed poor Evelyn far beyond the old wrong he'd shot Stanford White to avenge.

"Harry's death wouldn't have brought Stanny back," Evelyn answered. "But I suppose it was his mother, actually. No, I didn't like her. But when an old woman gets on her knees and weeps and pleads—she knew by then the millions she'd spent to sway public opinion, to put up a great defense wasn't enough. She thought I was to blame for the whole thing anyhow. He'd been a terrible son to her—yet she loved him. She was his mother and—her love had followed him to that highest hill when they were going to hang him. I felt so sorry for him, poor crazy thing. You can't escape at a time like that. I detested him but I'd been married to him. And what difference did it make to me by then? I was done for. Karma. It was Karma. I was on The Wheel. I knew even then when I knew so little that I had to pay the price somehow."

Evelyn Turns On Thaws

Before the trial, Evelyn spent long hours locked up with the Thaw women, she'd crucified herself to save their heir, suddenly when it was over she loathed all Thaws. So when his mother, with Harry's consent, wanted to pay off the girl who had saved him, Evelyn tore up the check and said "I never want to see a Thaw again as long as I live." And, she told me, "I didn't."

It must be tough at 22 to look ahead and see the road can go no place but down until you die.

We have done with Ope and Honour, we are lost to Love and Truth,
We are dropping down the ladder rung by rung:
And the measure of our torment is the measure of our youth,
God help us, for we knew the worst too young.

Kipling wrote that and — the girl who'd known the worst too young did drop rung by rung into ugly places. In this period piece, she had to be outcast, her sympathizers couldn't associate with her. But somewhere her soul began to climb again, to talk to her today is to know an indomitable woman, working at sculpture, who has learned many lessons the more fortunate have missed. Once more reincarnation and I'll bet she'll be somebody terrific.

While I've been writing this, I've thought of the people who are to recreate these real life characters. Ray Milland as Stanford White, fine. That superb actor Farley Granger as Harry Thaw. And Joan Collins, whom Evelyn Nesbit Thaw says can be the girl on the Red Velvet Swing she once was. I keep wondering if after 50 years she can make people understand what engrossed the whole United States; why people in remote villages read nothing else; in New York they fought police to get one glimpse of Evelyn. For, as Irvin Cobb said to me, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was the Thaw case. I want to see if Joan Collins can recreate that magic. If she does, we have a new movie star. Of course, there weren't any movies in Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's day or it might have been different.

End of series.

California led all states in passenger car registrations in 1954 with 4,879,210, and Nevada was last with 87,436.

Local Company Offering Warning Signs For Roads

The Tri-State Advertising Company of Cumberland, through its manager, Tom V. Litzenburg, has offered to provide temporarily three large signs to be erected on Big Savage Mountain to warn truck drivers of the long downgrade and inform them to put their vehicles in a low gear.

George R. Hughes Jr., a member of the House of Delegates from this county, acted on behalf of the firm in offering the three signs. The signs would be five feet high and 12 feet long. Mayor Perry Myers of Frostburg has been notified of the offer as well as the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

In his letter to the mayor and commissioners, Hughes said the signs would be erected by the Tri-State Advertising Company and taken down later when permanent signs are provided under a proposal made by various Frostburg groups.

Permission from the State Roads Commission would have to be obtained before the temporary signs could be erected. Hughes said in his letter that there are 10 warning signs on Summit Mountain near Uniontown which warn trucks of the dangers in descending the steep grade.

The commissioners yesterday paseed a resolution calling attention to the observance of American Education Week starting Monday. The resolution was passed on the request of W. Ardell Haines, principal of Bruce High School at Westernport.

"I couldn't stand it any longer," he said, "when I saw White sitting there, fat and healthy and successful and my poor, frail little Evelyn—."

Behind Scenes Battle

So for months the country discussed whether poor, frail little Evelyn could or would take the stand and bare her shame in her husband's defense. This great controversy still raged when Harry Thaw went to the bar, charged with murder in the first degree carrying the death penalty.

Delmas soon made plain his Dementia Americana defense, the old Unwritten Law, a species of insanity which makes a man believe that whoever stains the virtue of his wife has forfeited protection of human laws. But how could this work unless Evelyn Nesbit Thaw told the 12 good men and true the story herself? So, from the first moment this question was asked every eye was upon the little figure in blue in that courtroom, looking Irvin Cobb assured me, not more than 15-years-old though she was then past 20.

"I didn't want to take the stand," she said the other day, "I didn't want to tell any story to save Harry Thaw's life. I knew about William Travers Jerome. He'd broken strong men on the stand. I was scared almost to death. When I thought of his cross-examining me, asking me all those questions, I—I couldn't sleep at all. Of course my mother-in-law, and my sisters-in-law, they only cared about Harry, not to have their brother and son, a Thaw, go to the chair. Or be judged insane. They kept at me day and night."

Evelyn had no one. Her best friend Stanford White was dead. Harry Thaw had killed him. She'd seen him do it. Her mother, remarried, was in Pittsburgh. The great shock of the trial for Evelyn was when Jerome betrayed the notes he was consulting in his vicious attack on Evelyn had been sent to him by her mother.

Went Blindly To Fate

"I told her myself the night before she went on the stand," Delmas told me, when I interviewed him, "that without her testimony Thaw had to go to the chair. She cried, she pleaded, she refused, she kept saying are you sure? I said I was, she kept saying I'm so sorry for us all."

To the last moment in the courtroom the great Charles Dana Gibson pleaded with her not to go on the stand. "It will ruin you," he said.

But she went blindly to her fate and no one can tell it as well as Irvin Cobb did on the day itself, not even Evelyn.

"Call Mrs. Thaw," Delmas said. She came, a slim, pale little woman, white, cold, outwardly calm, she slipped into the big chair and nestled there almost like a tired child. Her hands dropped into her lap. There was something pitiably small and weak about the girl sitting there ready to crucify herself for the sake of her husband."

"Why did you do it?" I asked Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. I knew she'd known Thaw was insane, she'd experienced his cruelty. He'd killed the man she loved. When he did that and so dragged her into public shame, the spotlight of that murder trial and witness stand, he also had betrayed poor Evelyn far beyond the old wrong he'd shot Stanford White to avenge.

"Harry's death wouldn't have brought Stanny back," Evelyn answered. "But I suppose it was his mother, actually. No, I didn't like her. But when an old woman gets on her knees and weeps and pleads—she knew by then the millions she'd spent to sway public opinion, to put up a great defense wasn't enough. She thought I was to blame for the whole thing anyhow. He'd been a terrible son to her—yet she loved him. She was his mother and—her love had followed him to that highest hill when they were going to hang him. I felt so sorry for him, poor crazy thing. You can't escape at a time like that. I detested him but I'd been married to him. And what difference did it make to me by then? I was done for. Karma. It was Karma. I was on The Wheel. I knew even then when I knew so little that I had to pay the price somehow."

Evelyn Turns On Thaws

Before the trial, Evelyn spent long hours locked up with the Thaw women, she'd crucified herself to save their heir, suddenly when it was over she loathed all Thaws. So when his mother, with Harry's consent, wanted to pay off the girl who had saved him, Evelyn tore up the check and said "I never want to see a Thaw again as long as I live." And, she told me, "I didn't."

It must be tough at 22 to look ahead and see the road can go no place but down until you die.

We have done with Ope and Honour, we are lost to Love and Truth,
We are dropping down the ladder rung by rung:
And the measure of our torment is the measure of our youth,
God help us, for we knew the worst too young.

Kipling wrote that and — the girl who'd known the worst too young did drop rung by rung into ugly places. In this period piece, she had to be outcast, her sympathizers couldn't associate with her. But somewhere her soul began to climb again, to talk to her today is to know an indomitable woman, working at sculpture, who has learned many lessons the more fortunate have missed. Once more reincarnation and I'll bet she'll be somebody terrific.

While I've been writing this, I've thought of the people who are to recreate these real life characters. Ray Milland as Stanford White, fine. That superb actor Farley Granger as Harry Thaw. And Joan Collins, whom Evelyn Nesbit Thaw says can be the girl on the Red Velvet Swing she once was. I keep wondering if after 50 years she can make people understand what engrossed the whole United States; why people in remote villages read nothing else; in New York they fought police to get one glimpse of Evelyn. For, as Irvin Cobb said to me, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was the Thaw case. I want to see if Joan Collins can recreate that magic. If she does, we have a new movie star. Of course, there weren't any movies in Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's day or it might have been different.

End of series.

California led all states in passenger car registrations in 1954 with 4,879,210, and Nevada was last with 87,436.

Local Company Offering Warning Signs For Roads

The Tri-State Advertising Company of Cumberland, through its manager, Tom V. Litzenburg, has offered to provide temporarily three large signs to be erected on Big Savage Mountain to warn truck drivers of the long downgrade and inform them to put their vehicles in a low gear.

George R. Hughes Jr., a member of the House of Delegates from this county, acted on behalf of the firm in offering the three signs. The signs would be five feet high and 12 feet long. Mayor Perry Myers of Frostburg has been notified of the offer as well as the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

In his letter to the mayor and commissioners, Hughes said the signs would be erected by the Tri-State Advertising Company and taken down later when permanent signs are provided under a proposal made by various Frostburg groups.

Permission from the State Roads Commission would have to be obtained before the temporary signs could be erected. Hughes said in his letter that there are 10 warning signs on Summit Mountain near Uniontown which warn trucks of the dangers in descending the steep grade.

The commissioners yesterday paseed a resolution calling attention to the observance of American Education Week starting Monday. The resolution was passed on the request of W. Ardell Haines, principal of Bruce High School at Westernport.

When they want an angel food cake for the church bazaar, Mrs. Turner is apt to be asked to bake it. She almost always responds to such requests with a simple, "I'll be glad to."

If you ask people about Mrs. Turner, they will tell you that she is one of the happiest women in town. Yet not so long ago she was feeling pretty sorry for herself. Life seemed such a humdrum affair. As an accomplished musician, she had had dreams of the concert stage, but marriage and children had changed all that. Somehow it didn't seem fair!

Then one Sunday, a friend persuaded her to go to church. The sermon happened to be about the ingredients that make a full and happy life. The things the minister said struck home, and the next Sunday she found herself back in church again. Then one Sunday Mr. Turner went along, and next, the youngsters.

Now Mrs. Turner is still "just a housewife," but is she dissatisfied with her role? Look at her face, and see for yourself! It took the Church to show her that she already possessed all the tools needed for fulfillment and happiness, if she would but use them. Now, she does.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When they want an angel food cake for the church bazaar, Mrs. Turner is apt to be asked to bake it. She almost always responds to such requests with a simple, "I'll be glad to."

If you ask people about Mrs. Turner, they will tell you that she is one of the happiest women in town. Yet not so long ago she was feeling pretty sorry for herself. Life seemed such a humdrum affair. As an accomplished musician, she had had dreams of the concert stage, but marriage and children had changed all that. Somehow it didn't seem fair!

Then one Sunday, a friend persuaded her to go to church. The sermon happened to be about the ingredients that make a full and happy life. The things the minister said struck home, and the next Sunday she found herself back in church again. Then one Sunday Mr. Turner went along, and next, the youngsters.

Now Mrs. Turner is still "just a housewife," but is she dissatisfied with her role? Look at her face, and see for yourself! It took the Church to show her that she already possessed all the tools needed for fulfillment and happiness, if she would but use them. Now, she does.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Tax Collection Setup Tabled At Board Meeting

A resolution submitted at the meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson was ordered tabled.

Wilkinson's resolution called for the county tax collector to set up a system for the collection of taxes at Oldtown and Flintstone on certain specified dates as a convenience to residents in those areas.

It was stated in the resolution that farmers, who are busy at this time of year, must travel up to 35 miles to transact their tax payments at the Court House.

Commissioner James Orr said the tax collector, J. Wallace Close, should be consulted before any action was taken on such a program. Commissioner William H. Lemmert made a motion to table the order so that the resolution could be given some consideration before any action. This motion passed.

The commissioners also received a letter yesterday from C. L. Wannen, comptroller of the State Roads Commission, stating that Allegany County would be eligible for $142,000 from the proposed third issue of county highway construction bonds for the 1956-57 fiscal year.

James G. Stevenson, board clerk, was instructed to notify the SRC that the Allegany County commissioners will not participate in the program at this time.

The building will be 36 by 50 feet with concrete block foundation and walls. The roof will be of shingle.

40-Letter Word Only A Breeze

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP) — Peter Thorneycroft, president of the Board of Trade, stood in the House of Commons yesterday and without tripping or using more than one breath said:

" Hydrazinocarbonylmethyltrimethylammonium chloride."

Colleagues knew he would have to talk about the stuff, listened intently as he approached the hurdle and applauded as he got over it.

Unfortunately, said Thorneycroft, it is necessary to raise the import tax on the stuff, which is used in the manufacture of chemicals.

They were Seymour L. Pyles, city letter carrier who began his service here March 3, 1918, and Amos A. Perdew, clerk in the mailing division, who started his work here on July 24, 1926.

Hazelwood Gets Contract For Access Road

The contract for the access road and bridge across the B&O Railroad and C&O Canal property into the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant site at North Branch has been let to the George F. Hazelwood Company, Cumberland.

The low bid of the local firm is $444,692.02. It is substantially lower than the original bids of several weeks ago. The original bid, $507,564.52 was not accepted by the State Roads Commission and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads as it was above the estimate for the project made last year.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said the lower cost was obtained through certain changes in specifications and engineering costs. These will not affect the overall project, he pointed out.

Allegany County is providing the largest amount for the project through the federal aid matching fund plan. The B&O Railroad will provide $18,472.45 as its contribution towards the bridge itself. This is done under the grade crossing elimination program.

The State Roads Commission made available $150,000 in funds for the project and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is providing free of charge fill material for the approaches to the bridge which is valued at $38,000.

An official of the Hazelwood firm said that it is ready to start work immediately following the receipt of formal notice from the State Roads Commission.

Weather conditions will decide the speed with which the project proceeds. The Hazelwood firm says work on grading can be started this fall and work on the bridge will be done during the winter months.

Work on the $34,000,000 triple-grinding plate glass plant is proceeding rapidly and it is estimated the entire works will be completed by next July.

Boosters Planning Parcel Post Sale

Plans for an auction and parcel post sale were completed at a meeting of the Ridgeley High School Boosters Club Thursday at the school.

The project will be held at the school following the basketball game between Ridgeley and Romney schools on December 9, according to Mrs. Frances Davis, vice president.

Proceeds from the project will be donated to help support various school activities. Dressed turkeys and homemade fruit cakes will be featured on the items available at the auction.

WM Inspection Trip Scheduled

Western Maryland Railway officials, headed by W. Arthur Grotz, company president, will go through Cumberland next Friday on a period inspection of the railroad.

The group will go on to Connellsville by rail and then go by auto to Elkins. The following day, they will return to Baltimore by business car from Elkins.

Gas Company Seeks Access For PPG Line

City and C&A Gas Company officials yesterday discussed a right-of-way through Municipal Airport for a gas line which will service the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch.

Meeting with Mayor Roy W. Eves and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum were C. E. Fox, right-of-way leaser for the gas firm, and Attorney James Alfred Avirett.

Mayor Eves said no decision was reached on the eight-inch, high pressure line. The line will not interfere with runways or airport operations, Eves said.

Meanwhile, it was announced that the first carload of water pipe for the new 18-inch water line to the glass plant will arrive here next week, probably Monday.

That's the day the Mayor and Council will open bids for the unloading and storage of the 27,000 feet of spiral welded steel pipe. Unloading and storage will be at the B&O Railroad rolling mill yard.

Mayor Eves said the first carload of pipe was shipped from Middletown, Ohio, Wednesday and is expected here the day bids for unloading are opened by council.

Tax Collection Setup Tabled At Board Meeting

A resolution submitted at the meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson was ordered tabled.

Wilkinson's resolution called for the county tax collector to set up a system for the collection of taxes at Oldtown and Flintstone on certain specified dates as a convenience to residents in those areas.

It was stated in the resolution that farmers, who are busy at this time of year, must travel up to 35 miles to transact their tax payments at the Court House.

Commissioner James Orr said the tax collector, J. Wallace Close, should be consulted before any action was taken on such a program. Commissioner William H. Lemmert made a motion to table the order so that the resolution could be given some consideration before any action. This motion passed.

The commissioners also received a letter yesterday from C. L. Wannen, comptroller of the State Roads Commission, stating that Allegany County would be eligible for $142,000 from the proposed third issue of county highway construction bonds for the 1956-57 fiscal year.

James G. Stevenson, board clerk, was instructed to notify the SRC that the Allegany County commissioners will not participate in the program at this time.

Permit For New Church Granted

The Church of God and Saints of Christ obtained a permit to construct a new church on Lot 47 in the 900 block of Maryland Avenue, the building engineer's office reported yesterday.

Cost is estimated at $15,000, according to the permit signed by Deacon James F. Hurt.

The building will be 36 by 50 feet with concrete block foundation and walls. The roof will be of shingle.

40-Letter Word Only A Breeze

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP) — Peter Thorneycroft, president of the Board of Trade, stood in the House of Commons yesterday and without tripping or using more than one breath said:

"Hydrazinocarbonylmethyltrimethylammonium chloride."

Colleagues knew he would have to talk about the stuff, listened intently as he approached the hurdle and applauded as he got over it.

Unfortunately, said Thorneycroft, it is necessary to raise the import tax on the stuff, which is used in the manufacture of chemicals.

Two Wills Admitted To Probate Here

Two wills were admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court.

The will of J. Frederick Walton, who died February 10, 1954 named his widow, Mrs. Esther E. Walton as executrix. She and her son, David B. Walton, are beneficiaries.

The will of Mrs. Florence Gertrude Myers Fisher, 68, of Braddock Road, who died October 4, named Dr. W. Royce Hodges as executor. Her sons were listed as beneficiaries.

Veteran Postal Employes Feted

They were Seymour L. Pyles, city letter carrier who began his service here March 3, 1918, and Amos A. Perdew, clerk in the mailing division, who started his work here on July 24, 1926.

Gifts from post office employes were presented each of the men while Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon gave them certificates of service from the postmaster general.

The total collected was $879,340.28 or 77.9 per cent of the levy of $1,128,500.

Hazelwood Gets Contract For Access Road

The contract for the access road and bridge across the B&O Railroad and C&O Canal property into the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant site at North Branch has been let to the George F. Hazelwood Company, Cumberland.

The low bid of the local firm is $444,692.02. It is substantially lower than the original bids of several weeks ago. The original bid, $507,564.52 was not accepted by the State Roads Commission and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads as it was above the estimate for the project made last year.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said the lower cost was obtained through certain changes in specifications and engineering costs. These will not affect the overall project, he pointed out.

Allegany County is providing the largest amount for the project through the federal aid matching fund plan. The B&O Railroad will provide $18,472.45 as its contribution towards the bridge itself. This is done under the grade crossing elimination program.

The State Roads Commission made available $150,000 in funds for the project and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is providing tree of charge fill material for the approaches to the bridge which is valued at $38,000.

An official of the Hazelwood firm said that it is ready to start work immediately following the receipt of formal notice from the State Roads Commission.

Weather conditions will decide the speed with which the project proceeds. The Hazelwood firm says work on grading can be started this fall and work on the bridge will be done during the winter months.

Work on the $34,000,000 triple-grinding plate glass plant is proceeding rapidly and it is estimated the entire works will be completed by next July.

Boosters Planning Parcel Post Sale

Plans for an auction and parcel post sale were completed at a meeting of the Ridgeley High School Boosters Club Thursday at the school.

The project will be held at the school following the basketball game between Ridgeley and Romney schools on December 9, according to Mrs. Frances Davis, vice president.

Proceeds from the project will be donated to help support various school activities. Dressed turkeys and homemade fruit cakes will be featured on the items available at the auction.

WM Inspection Trip Scheduled

Western Maryland Railway officials, headed by W. Arthur Grotz, company president, will go through Cumberland next Friday on a period inspection of the railroad.

The group will go on to Connellsville by rail and then go by auto to Elkins. The following day, they will return to Baltimore by business car from Elkins.

High-Priced Issues Lead Strong Market Advance

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — A strong rally led by high-priced issues today sent the stock market bounding ahead.

It was the second straight forward drive for the market following three days of indecisive drift.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.70. Yesterday it was up $2.20. The average now stands at $172.70.

Standard Oil (NJ) was up 7½ yesterday and 6⅛ today to close at 146 as the day's second most active issue on 77,600 shares. Directors yesterday proposed a three-for-one split and raised the dividend payment to $1.50 from $1.25.

Chrysler, up 2 points yesterday, backed down ⅝ at 95⅞ today. It was the day's third most active issue on 48,200 shares. After the close directors declared a dividend of 75 cents and an extra of $1 making 1955 payments $4 as compared with $4.50 last year. The directors made no mention of a split.

Gas Company Seeks Access For PPG Line

City and C&A Gas Company officials yesterday discussed a right-of-way through Municipal Airport for a gas line which will service the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch.

Meeting with Mayor Roy W. Eves and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum were C. E. Fox, right-of-way leaser for the gas firm, and Attorney James Alfred Avirett.

Mayor Eves said no decision was reached on the eight-inch, high pressure line. The line will not interfere with runways or airport operations, Eves said.

Meanwhile, it was announced that the first carload of water pipe for the new 18-inch water line to the glass plant will arrive here next week, probably Monday.

That's the day the Mayor and Council will open bids for the unloading and storage of the 27,000 feet of spiral welded steel pipe. Unloading and storage will be at the B&O Railroad rolling mill yard.

Mayor Eves said the first carload of pipe was shipped from Middletown, Ohio, Wednesday and is expected here the day bids for unloading are opened by council.

The Salk Vaccine: Some Conclusions

How is the Salk vaccine doing? The results are not all in for 1955, and most children did not receive the shots required for maximum protection, so final conclusions would be premature.

But there is enough evidence to warrant two tentative conclusions: 1. The vaccine is not a cure-all in its present stage of development. 2. It does help.

The polio peak is past, and it is possible to estimate the total number of polio cases in 1955 with fair accuracy. The United States Public Health Service expects the figure to be approximately 29,000. This is a considerable reduction from the 1954 figure of 38,476, but it is slightly above the 1951 figure of 28,386.

Death figures, however, are more encouraging, which suggests that when the vaccine does not prevent polio it may make it less severe. The estimated number of deaths for 1955 is between 850 and 900. There were 1,600 deaths from polio in 1954 and 3,300 in 1953. In 1951, when the number of cases was about the same as this year, the number of deaths was 1,686 — almost double the estimated number for this year.

Even so, the figures are not as conclusive as could be desired. In 1947 there were only 580 deaths from polio.

But it is encouraging that the evidence so far available indicates that the incidence of polio among the 7 million children inoculated in the 5-9 age group was 25 to 50 per cent less than it would have been without the inoculations.

A good evaluation of the effect of the vaccine should be available a year from now. Figures vary sharply from year to year. But more children will be inoculated in 1956, and if casualty figures drop significantly this will be regarded as proof that the vaccine is at least reasonably successful.

More Influence Peddling Brought To Light In Committee Hearings

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It used to be that when a government official received a 12-pound ham it made the front pages. Now, when a government official rewards a friend with a $16,000 contract it doesn't make even the inside pages.

Maybe that's because the public can eat and understand hams. Or maybe it's because some Washington reporters can smell a ham but they can't smell a contract. At any rate the trail that Peter Strobel, in charge of Ike's government building contracts, has left behind him becomes more interesting every day.

It's a chapter showing that Strobel, partner in an engineering firm similar to Secretary of Air Force Talbott's, was an eager-beaver in soliciting business that would help his firm, even while working for the government.

The evidence came from Edwin H. Lawton, Strobel's regional man on the East Coast, who told how he was summoned to Washington to discuss with Strobel alterations for the New York City Immigration and Naturalization Building. Strobel recommended that a $16,390 architect fee for the alterations go to Serge Petroff and associates.

"Strobel told me that he would arrange to have Mr. Petroff in my office the following morning," Lawton testified.

True to Strobel's promise, Petroff showed up the next morning in Lawton's New York office and the contract was signed without further red tape.

No Competition

There are 40 or 50 different firms in New York qualified to do this job, but not one was considered. It is usual government policy to invite competitive bidding. However, here is the damaging testimony of Mr. Lawton as to why no other firm was consulted.

"Mr. Strobel inferred," he said, "that it was to do business with Mr. Petroff and not with any other firm."

There are two other interesting aspects to this contract to alter the U. S. Immigration Office in New York City.

One is that ordinarily government architects draw plans for federal buildings in the New York area. It saves money. Government architects are kept on regular salary and can do this type of job without calling on outside help. Only twice in five years have outside architects been called upon for this type of work and the first was Petroff who got the $16,300 immigration-office job on Aug. 27, 1954.

Second and most important development was what Strobel's firm, Strobel and Salzman, got from Petroff, before he was favored with this unusual little contract from Uncle Sam. The answer is that Petroff has given $22,000 worth of business to Strobel and Salzman since Strobel took charge of government buildings in May 1953.

Scratch Your Back

This policy of you-give-me-a-contract-and-I'll-give-you-one seems to have continued under Mr. Strobel right up to the time when the Washington Merry-Go-Round published the first exposure of Strobel on September 1.

For instance, one architectural firm in New York with which Strobel and Salzman had not been able to do business was Ferrenz and Taylor. That is, they were not able to do business up until last summer by which time Strobel was occupying a key position in government. Then suddenly, out of the blue, Strobel's firm got an $18,000 job from Ferrenz and Taylor to draw engineering plans for New York City's Junior High School No. 45.

Who Lied?

"Maletz: Did Mr. Strobel have anything to do with getting that job (the Junior High School No. 45?)

"Mr. Schwarz: Nothing whatsoever.

"Mr. Maletz: To your knowledge did Mr. Strobel ever see Mr. Ferrenz, of Ferrenz and Taylor, concerning the possibility of getting that job?

"Mr. Schwarz: He never did."

What Schwarz did not know, however, was that his former boss, Strobel, now working for the government, had sworn directly to the contrary, also under oath. Here is what Strobel told Mr. Maletz under cross-examination:

"Mr. Maletz: Is it not true that in August, 1955, you personally secured a contract from the architectural firm of Ferrenz and Taylor for Strobel and Salzman to draft the engineering plans for Junior High School 45 in New York City?

"Mr. Strobel: I don't think it would be totally correct to say that I personally secured that contract. I did personally see Mr. Ferrenz, together with Mr. Schwarz, saw him once and that is all."

Later Maletz asked Strobel: "Now Mr. Strobel, after you and Mr. Schwarz solicited business from Ferrenz and Taylor, Strobel and Salzman did obtain a contract from Ferrenz and Taylor, isn't that correct?"

"Mr. Strobel: That is correct."

The facts, it would seem, speak for themselves.

Meanwhile, Ferrenz and Taylor filed a brochure with Strobel's Public Buildings Administration, in order to be considered for future government architectural work. This occurred in July and August, just as Ferrenz and Taylor were giving an $18,000 job to Strobel's firm, Strobel and Salzman.

Strobel has now screened various applications and narrowed down the eligibility list, keeping Ferrenz and Taylor on that list. I predict, however, that in view of the present investigation, no contract will go to Ferrenz and Taylor.

Report On Secrecy Overlooks McCarthy's Troubles

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Maybe the American Civil Liberties Union, which has just issued a long report on secrecy and suppression of news in the government, didn't, of course, intend to give out anythig that even remotely vindicated senator Joseph McCarthy, but the document sounds a strange note which would have been considered heresy in the "left wing" had it been uttered during the Stevens-Adams hearings in 1954.

There were lots of vehement expressions then about how the Wisconsin Senator was trying to "encroach" on the Executive Branch by demanding files in connection with the way Major Peress was promoted by the Army even though, according to the testimony, the major had Communist connections.

But it turns out now that the letter which President Eisenhower wrote on May 17, 1954—denying to a Congressional committee access to information from the files of the Executive Branch of the government and citing lots of precedents to back up the action — is denounced for its use currently to justify "secrecy within the Executive Branch, entirely outside the field of the country's military security."

This was the letter which the ACLU report now says was issued originally "to block testimony by John A. Adams, a lawyer for the Department of the Army concerning conversations close to the White House." The President's refusal to allow his aides to testify was widely praised at the time.

The report by the American Civil Liberties Union just released was written by Allen Raymond, an experienced newsman, who was commissioned to do the job of inquiring into methods of suppression of news in government. Mr. Raymond's lengthy report is significant for what it omits.

There is no mention, for example, of the action of President Truman in holding a conference at the White House in April 1951 in which some non-military persons participated and which resulted in a decision to fire General MacArthur summarily without a hearing. Although the Senate committee which investigated the episode sought in vain to get testimony from the participants in the conference at the White House, among whom was the present governor of New York, Averell Harriman, Mr. Truman refused to allow any testimony to be given as to what actually took place.

Mr. Raymond now makes the point that "counsel to one of the Senate committees was hazarded an opinion that the interference of the Chief Executive in the McCarthy hearings extended Presidential power to keep secret the activities of his official family beyond any previous limit, and might well have been found unconstitutional if tested in the courts."

This would have been music to the ears of Senator McCarthy in 1954, and particularly when the Watkins Committee even recommended "censure" on the basis of the Wisconsin Senator's efforts to elicit information from the Defense Department on matters which had nothing to do with military security.

Mr. Raymond makes the curious statement that "a feeling of frustration and cynicism has prevailed among large segments of the journalistic fraternity, particularly in Washington, for many years" and that "it seems to increase among the older men except for those who attain some inner serenity by faith, courage and laughter."

All this is supposed to be the result of inability of the correspondents here to ferret out the news. He says that "able reporters today will not dig as deeply or work as hard to penetrate secrets within the federal administration which they know will be undervalued, or cut to brief items on page 32 or 48, as they might have worked for page 1 display during the Roosevelt or Truman administrations."

Mr. Raymond intimates that this is partly because newspapermen think their newspapers will not back them up. Then he gives credence to a charge which Democratic politicians like to make often — that publishers constantly suppress the news which their reporters want to write. He says in the ACLU report:

"Anyone familiar with the personnel of newspaperdom knows that there is a great gulf between the thinking of daily newspaper publishers and reporters on political affairs; that an overwhelming majority of the publishers have in recent years backed the cause of the Republican Party and of President Eisenhower as its savior in the 1952 election. A fair-sized but undetermined majority of their reportorial staffs consistently votes for the Democratic Party and was for Stevenson in 1952. While syndicated columnists have built some measure of personal independence from the thinking of publishers who print their columns, even they —as one of them told this reporter —know they have to sell their product."

The innuendo is unjusified either for syndicated writers or reporters. It is true—though for some reason Mr. Raymond didn't mention it—that in recent years many thousands of reporters have joined a national CIO labor union with which Mr. Raymond was once prominently identified. While some reporters might hold ideological views along the same line as labor-union leaders, each newspaperman stands after all with relation to his writing on a basis of simple honesty and fidelity to his job. A well-trained newspaperman writes as eagerly a story that he knows will hurt his own political party as he writes an article that will help the party to which he doesn't belong—if it is the news in each case. Generalizations which impute to newspapermen different beliefs than their publishers may be true in an abstract sense, but to assume it colors their daily writing, as Mr. Raymond says, is to do an injustice to the vast majority.

The whole controversy about news-getting in Washington can be boiled down to one simple premise. There are still "scoops" today, though there were more of them years ago when newspapermen had more time and were not supposed to collect "handouts" on such a variety of governmental activities. It is lack of time to cover a big government rather than frustration that prevents newsmen from digging out all the news they would like to get. They will continue to ferret out the biggest secrets—no matter what the executive order or restrictions may be upon officials to withhold news — if the reporters follow the traditions of an alert and vigilant press.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Call To Duty

I dare not say that a woman should not marry the man she loves, but it is refreshing as springtime to witness a response to a call to duty. Margaret of England will be beloved by her people not because she gave up the man of her choice but because she sacrificed personal happiness to maintain a way of life which her family is duty-bound to defend.

After all, millions of young men are dead and buried because they answered the call of duty, often with less knowledge of the reasons for the call than Margaret has. She is a brave girl, but even more, an idealistic girl who accepts the responsibility of royalty, which in the British sense is to set an example of the proprieties of life.

Her grandfather and father labored valiantly in this field and saved not only a crown but a union of free and independent nations. And they did it without force or power, for they really have none, but by the virtue of their lives and the respect the people have for them. And now this respect goes to Margaret, for her sacrifice is very great and at an early age.

In this era in which marriage is being reduced to a matter of registration and the word romance is becoming, in common parlance, equivalent to harlotry, the clean courtship, the honorable decision, the unwillingness to yield principle to personal satisfaction stand out in pristine beauty and all who were engaged in what could have been an ugly pursuit of passion will be glorified among their own people as restoring the virtuous qualities of duty and respect.

It could even occur that in the course of events these lovers might find happiness, but they have acted well and have reached a conclusion that is right because it is dutiful and therefore noble.

This middle of the 20th Century has to an astonishing degree become an era of decadence and debauchery and the characteristic is almost universal. The most famed women are expensive courtesans who are press-agented and photographed until even children know their names and their so-called romances and multiple marriages, and hang their pictures upon their walls, perhaps as inspiration to go and do likewise. And against this mob of underbred, highly-paid votaries of the physical body, stands Margaret who answered the call of duty. And the contrast is so great that it turns the revellers, whom Igor Cassini correctly named the "Jet-Set," into unpalatable creatures who, in pursuit of pleasure, sacrifice not themselves but so much that is decent and noble in human nature.

Saints live to give example to good and righteous living, and no matter what she may suffer, Margaret will not fail to realize that she, who loves to sing and dance and be gay, has set an example of dutiful living which may put a period to the ugly excesses of those who, possessing wealth and position, do not know how to use them. Perhaps her answer to the call to duty may put an end to multiple marriage which is, after all, a form of concubinage and produces vicious results in society. As those on the Summit do, so do those at the bottom.

The wage-earner copies the models' clothes and manners, and manners are the external manifestation of morals. When a society loses the morals of its tradition, it withers on the vine because its vitality disappears.

I think of those American so-called heiresses chasing about the world purchasing husbands, paying men alimony after they divorce them, producing public scandals by the brazenness of their conduct and shaming their country and civilization, and then I think of Margaret answering the call of duty.

I cannot but wonder what these heiresses have inherited. Surely it is not a sense of devoted motherhood. Surely it is not the virtues of the Judaic-Christian civilization. Surely it is not the strength of the pioneer women who helped to build America, their own grandmothers who assisted in the building of the very fortunes which they now squander in roistering without sufficient shame to shut their doors and pull the blinds over their windows.

Margaret has rebuked them all and maybe our world, by this example, will return to a regard for duty in all its manifestations.

Design For Living

By Brother Barnabas

In a story by Frank L. Stockton, "The Lady or the Tiger," a bold youth falls in love with the King's daughter. He is condemned to open one of two doors. Behind one is a fascinating girl whom he must marry, behind the other a tiger.

The King's daughter learns the secret, and signals her lover to open one of the doors; but which?—There the reader is left to guess.

The story is a parable of life, for we too must make some decisions that determine our destiny.

A traveler out in the wild and woolly west came by a farmyard where a panther was running around loose. He stopped to talk with the hayseed out in front.

"Aren't you afraid to let that wild beast roam around unshackled? He might kill somebody."

"No, he's harmless. We got him when he was a purp and we brought him up like a member of the family. We named him Oscar. Wife fed him scraps from the table. I gave him fresh milk twice a day, and the children fondled him.

"One day there was a commotion down at the barn, and Oscar had killed a prize shoat and was feasting. I scolded him, appealing to his better nature, and telling him how wrong it was.

"Not long afterwards Oscar ran down and killed one of my Jersey milkers that we depended upon for our butter and cream. Then I was righteously indignant, and didn't know what to do. I gave him a terrible tongue-lashing, and said, 'Oscar, if ever you do a thing like that again, I'll have to punish you severely.'

"Time went on, and one day I was smoking my pipe out in the yard, and a stranger came by and hollered out: 'A panther just jumped through your kitchen window.'

"I went on smoking, and said, 'If that animal has no more sense than to tackle my wife, he'll have to take the consequences.'

"And when he came out, I knew what had happened, and was terribly cut up by it, and getting my shotgun down I said, 'Now, Oscar, just for that I'm going to kill you.' But as I was about to pull the trigger, I said to myself, 'I can't do it, for whenever I look at Oscar, I think of the whole family.' "

This lurid yarn is a play-by-play account of a contest between an unregenerate yokel, who through indecision lost his volitionary power, and a panther who cannot change his spots. (Jeremiah 12:23).

As between the two contestants, which won? Here the reader will supply the answer, as in the case of "The Lady or the Tiger."

Some animals show more intelligence and are more human than some men. A dog will worship his master as a demigod though he be a scalawag.

A parrot of the Fifteenth Century could repeat the Apostles' Creed without hesitation, and that is more than half the population in my own can do, I ween.

Chickens have been known to enter the ministry, especially at conference time.

Man is a composite. He has his virtues, and his foibles. He knows one from the other and can choose between them. If his evil propensities are in the saddle he is headed toward ruin.

Your weakness may be a voracious appetite. You eat like a woodchopper, and dig your grave with your teeth. I asked an octogenarian to what he attributed his long life. He replied: "My wife was a good cook, Mrs. C. is a good cook, and—I keep away from the doctors."

A leopard cannot change his native disposition but a man can change his nature, if he doesn't trifle with destiny. A Caliban can become a saint, and a Magdalen a madonna.

The chameleon has a "design for living," and by protective coloring eludes his enemies and lives.

The dinosaur could not adjust to geologic change, and so became extinct.

Vital religion has a design for living in a climate of scientific, sociological and economic change. We can't go on living on grandmother's religion, however soothing and satisfying it was in her day. We must add a new stanza to the song we sang with unction in the days when life was simpler, and sing: "It is good for race relations, and it's good enough for me."

Dr. Jekyll is the "would-do-good" of man's nature. Mr. Hyde is "the-evil-that-is-present."

Dr. Jekyll is an honorable man above reproach. Mr. Hyde is a reprobate. They can change back and forth, the one to the other, by administering a potion.

Mr. Hyde committed a murder, and Dr. Jekyll revolted against the whole intrigue. At last when he can procure no more of one of the ingredients of the mixture, he commits suicide.

So it happens when one has no adequate design for living, opines

Adolescent Acne, Still A Puzzle, Can Be Helped

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Most of us have experienced the traid; adolescence, acne, and oily skin. No one knows why the grease glands become over active at this time of life but the production of sex hormones undoubtedly plays a role. Disturbed fat and carbohydrate metabolism is blamed but the elimination of fatty foods, starches, and sweets from the diet does not cure the skin disorder. They aggregate rather than originate it.

Emotional factors also influence acne but whether as cause or effect is not easy to determine. It is natural to become emotionally upset when the face is disfigured by blackheads and pimples, particularly in adolescence when confusion, frustration, and anxiety are rife. It is common knowledge that the outbreak gets worse during an unhappy love affair or a difficult period in school.

Some of the most severe cases have been noted in young people who are highly neurotic or have a marked inferiority complex. Some have an unhappy home life or a reputation for being uncooperative patients.

The male hormone is believed to be the main culprit. Eunuchs and girls will develop acne if given this hormone. But an excess of male sex hormone does not produce the condition in men, nor does the administration of female sex hormones consistently bring acne under control.

Regardless of the hormonal state, the skin disturbance usually responds to a simple plan of treatment. The victim should not sqeeze or pick the lesions nor apply greasy preparations that only add to skin oiliness. The face must be washed frequently with soap and water.

It is not advisable to eat foods that from experience are known to make acne worse. Chocolate, seafood & nuts, and iodized salt are the worst culprits. A Chicago dermatologist found that some of his adolescent patients with pimples and oily skin were suffering from bromism instead of acne.

These youngsters were eating large amounts of bread made with flour containing a bromate. The percentage of this chemical in each slice is infinitesimal but when an excessive quantity of bread is consumed day after day, a mild bromide reaction occurs.

The best diet is low in fats and starches and high in proteins. Fresh fruits and vegetables help counteract constipation. When emotional problems are factors, the victim must train himself not to worry too much about unimportant things.

Ample sleep is beneficial as well as out of door exercise and sun. Most of the recommended lotions are special cleansers and the ointments usually contain sulfur or resorcin to dry the skin and decrease oiliness.

TOXEMIA AND UREMIA

C. M. writes: Are toxemia and uremia the same?

REPLY

No. Uremia stems from failure of the kidneys to function properly. Toxemia comes from the accumulation of poisonous (toxic) substances in the system.

CAESAREAN DELIVERIES

Mrs. K. writes: Can a woman have more than three caesarean births?

REPLY

This would depend upon the woman's health and the condition of her uterus. In a recent study of 130 women, more than 64 per cent had had more than four; 30 women had had five, and nine had had six caesarean sections. Five women had had seven such deliveries, one had had nine, and another 10. Of the 638 deliveries, 43 of the babies died.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

In Honolulu the families are large, particularly among the descendants of Japanese emigrants. One thriving household numbered an even dozen youngsters. The youngest, age 8, came home from school with a drawing her teacher had praised. Her mother was even more enthusiastic. "Oh, mama," wailed the daughter, "Not again!"

"When I married Mrs. Hackenfuss," recalled Mr. Hackenfuss wistfully, "I was determined to be the boss or know the reason why. Now I certainly know the reason why!"

The Salk Vaccine: Some Conclusions

How is the Salk vaccine doing? The results are not all in for 1955, and most children did not receive the shots required for maximum protection, so final conclusions would be premature.

But there is enough evidence to warrant two tentative conclusions: 1. The vaccine is not a cure-all in its present stage of development. 2. It does help.

The polio peak is past, and it is possible to estimate the total number of polio cases in 1955 with fair accuracy. The United States Public Health Service expects the figure to be approximately 29,000. This is a considerable reduction from the 1954 figure of 38,476, but it is slightly above the 1951 figure of 28,386.

Death figures, however, are more encouraging, which suggests that when the vaccine does not prevent polio it may make it less severe. The estimated number of deaths for 1955 is between 850 and 900. There were 1,600 deaths from polio in 1954 and 3,300 in 1953. In 1951, when the number of cases was about the same as this year, the number of deaths was 1,686 — almost double the estimated number for this year.

Even so, the figures are not as conclusive as could be desired. In 1947 there were only 580 deaths from polio.

But it is encouraging that the evidence so far available indicates that the incidence of polio among the 7 million children inoculated in the 5-9 age group was 25 to 50 per cent less than it would have been without the inoculations.

A good evaluation of the effect of the vaccine should be available a year from now. Figures vary sharply from year to year. But more children will be inoculated in 1956, and if casualty figures drop significantly this will be regarded as proof that the vaccine is at least reasonably successful.

More Influence Peddling Brought To Light In Committee Hearings

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It used to be that when a government official received a 12-pound ham it made the front pages. Now, when a government official rewards a friend with a $16,000 contract it doesn't make even the inside pages.

Maybe that's because the public can eat and understand hams. Or maybe it's because some Washington reporters can smell a ham but they can't smell a contract. At any rate the trail that Peter Strobel, in charge of Ike's government building contracts, has left behind him becomes more interesting every day.

It's a chapter showing that Strobel, partner in an engineering firm similar to Secretary of Air Force Talbott's, was an eager-beaver in soliciting business that would help his firm, even while working for the government.

The evidence came from Edwin H. Lawton, Strobel's regional man on the East Coast, who told how he was summoned to Washington to discuss with Strobel alterations for the New York City Immigration and Naturalization Building. Strobel recommended that a $16,390 architect fee for the alterations go to Serge Petroff and associates.

"Strobel told me that he would arrange to have Mr. Petroff in my office the following morning," Lawton testified.

True to Strobel's promise, Petroff showed up the next morning in Lawton's New York office and the contract was signed without further red tape.

No Competition

There are 40 or 50 different firms in New York qualified to do this job, but not one was considered. It is usual government policy to invite competitive bidding. However, here is the damaging testimony of Mr. Lawton as to why no other firm was consulted.

"Mr. Strobel inferred," he said, "that it was to do business with Mr. Petroff and not with any other firm."

There are two other interesting aspects to this contract to alter the U. S. Immigration Office in New York City.

One is that ordinarily government architects draw plans for federal buildings in the New York area. It saves money. Government architects are kept on regular salary and can do this type of job without calling on outside help. Only twice in five years have outside architects been called upon for this type of work and the first was Petroff who got the $16,300 immigration-office job on Aug. 27, 1954.

Second and most important development was what Strobel's firm, Strobel and Salzman, got from Petroff, before he was favored with this unusual little contract from Uncle Sam. The answer is that Petroff has given $22,000 worth of business to Strobel and Salzman since Strobel took charge of government buildings in May 1953.

Scratch Your Back

This policy of you-give-me-a-contract-and-I'll-give-you-one seems to have continued under Mr. Strobel right up to the time when the Washington Merry-Go-Round published the first exposure of Strobel on September 1.

For instance, one architectural firm in New York with which Strobel and Salzman had not been able to do business was Ferrenz and Taylor. That is, they were not able to do business up until last summer by which time Strobel was occupying a key position in government. Then suddenly, out of the blue, Strobel's firm got an $18,000 job from Ferrenz and Taylor to draw engineering plans for New York City's Junior High School No. 45.

Who Lied?

"Maletz: Did Mr. Strobel have anything to do with getting that job (the Junior High School No. 45?)

"Mr. Schwarz: Nothing whatsoever.

"Mr. Maletz: To your knowledge did Mr. Strobel ever see Mr. Ferrenz, of Ferrenz and Taylor, concerning the possibility of getting that job?

"Mr. Schwarz: He never did."

What Schwarz did not know, however, was that his former boss, Strobel, now working for the government, had sworn directly to the contrary, also under oath. Here is what Strobel told Mr. Maletz under cross-examination:

"Mr. Maletz: Is it not true that in August, 1955, you personally secured a contract from the architectural firm of Ferrenz and Taylor for Strobel and Salzman to draft the engineering plans for Junior High School 45 in New York City?

"Mr. Strobel: I don't think it would be totally correct to say that I personally secured that contract. I did personally see Mr. Ferrenz, together with Mr. Schwarz, saw him once and that is all."

Later Maletz asked Strobel: "Now Mr. Strobel, after you and Mr. Schwarz solicited business from Ferrenz and Taylor, Strobel and Salzman did obtain a contract from Ferrenz and Taylor, isn't that correct?"

"Mr. Strobel: That is correct."

The facts, it would seem, speak for themselves.

Meanwhile, Ferrenz and Taylor filed a brochure with Strobel's Public Buildings Administration, in order to be considered for future government architectural work. This occurred in July and August, just as Ferrenz and Taylor were giving an $18,000 job to Strobel's firm, Strobel and Salzman.

Strobel has now screened various applications and narrowed down the eligibility list, keeping Ferrenz and Taylor on that list. I predict, however, that in view of the present investigation, no contract will go to Ferrenz and Taylor.

It is lack of time to cover a big government rather than frustration that prevents newsmen from digging out all the news they would like to get. They will continue to ferret out the biggest secrets—no matter what the executive order or restrictions may be upon officials to withhold news — if the reporters follow the traditions of an alert and vigilant press.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Call To Duty

I dare not say that a woman should not marry the man she loves, but it is refreshing as springtime to witness a response to a call to duty. Margaret of England will be beloved by her people not because she gave up the man of her choice but because she sacrificed personal happiness to maintain a way of life which her family is duty-bound to defend.

After all, millions of young men are dead and buried because they answered the call of duty, often with less knowledge of the reasons for the call than Margaret has. She is a brave girl, but even more, an idealistic girl who accepts the responsibility of royalty, which in the British sense is to set an example of the proprieties of life.

Her grandfather and father labored valiantly in this field and saved not only a crown but a union of free and independent nations. And they did it without force or power, for they really have none, but by the virtue of their lives and the respect the people have for them. And now this respect goes to Margaret, for her sacrifice is very great and at an early age.

In this era in which marriage is being reduced to a matter of registration and the word romance is becoming, in common parlance, equivalent to harlotry, the clean courtship, the honorable decision, the unwillingness to yield principle to personal satisfaction stand out in pristine beauty and all who were engaged in what could have been an ugly pursuit of passion will be glorified among their own people as restoring the virtuous qualities of duty and respect.

It could even occur that in the course of events these lovers might find happiness, but they have acted well and have reached a conclusion that is right because it is dutiful and therefore noble.

This middle of the 20th Century has to an astonishing degree become an era of decadence and debauchery and the characteristic is almost universal. The most famed women are expensive courtesans who are press-agented and photographed until even children know their names and their so-called romances and multiple marriages, and hang their pictures upon their walls, perhaps as inspiration to go and do likewise. And against this mob of underbred, highly-paid votaries of the physical body, stands Margaret who answered the call of duty. And the contrast is so great that it turns the revellers, whom Igor Cassini correctly named the "Jet-Set," into unpalatable creatures who, in pursuit of pleasure, sacrifice not themselves but so much that is decent and noble in human nature.

Saints live to give example to good and righteous living, and no matter what she may suffer, Margaret will not fail to realize that she, who loves to sing and dance and be gay, has set an example of dutiful living which may put a period to the ugly excesses of those who, possessing wealth and position, do not know how to use them. Perhaps her answer to the call to duty may put an end to multiple marriage which is, after all, a form of concubinage and produces vicious results in society. As those on the Summit do, so do those at the bottom.

The wage-earner copies the models' clothes and manners, and manners are the external manifestation of morals. When a society loses the morals of its tradition, it withers on the vine because its vitality disappears.

I think of those American so-called heiresses chasing about the world purchasing husbands, paying men alimony after they divorce them, producing public scandals by the brazenness of their conduct and shaming their country and civilization, and then I think of Margaret answering the call of duty.

I cannot but wonder what these heiresses have inherited. Surely it is not a sense of devoted motherhood. Surely it is not the virtues of the Judaic-Christian civilization. Surely it is not the strength of the pioneer women who helped to build America, their own grandmothers who assisted in the building of the very fortunes which they now squander in roistering without sufficient shame to shut their doors and pull the blinds over their windows.

Margaret has rebuked them all and maybe our world, by this example, will return to a regard for duty in all its manifestations.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

It's estimated that trips to foreign lands by Congressmen this year cost the U. S. anywhere from $1 to $5 million. Whatever became of that old wartime slogan: "Is this trip necessary?"

The frost may be on the pumpkin, says Grandpappy Jenkins, but autumn's not official until the wheat cakes are on the breakfast table.

A British couple invested seven cents in a soccer football pool ticket, won $210,000. That, says Zadok Dumkopf, is being penny wise!

A member of parliament wants to know why the British board of trade upped by 23 per cent tariff on hydrazinocarbonlmethyl-ammoniumchloride. Good grief—why bring THAT up?

Design For Living

By Brother Barnabas

In a story by Frank L. Stockton, "The Lady or the Tiger," a bold youth falls in love with the King's daughter. He is condemned to open one of two doors. Behind one is a fascinating girl whom he must marry, behind the other a tiger.

The King's daughter learns the secret, and signals her lover to open one of the doors; but which?—There the reader is left to guess.

The story is a parable of life, for we too must make some decisions that determine our destiny.

A traveler out in the wild and woolly west came by a farmyard where a panther was running around loose. He stopped to talk with the hayseed out in front.

"Aren't you afraid to let that wild beast roam around unshackled? He might kill somebody."

"No, he's harmless. We got him when he was a purp and we brought him up like a member of the family. We named him Oscar. Wife fed him scraps from the table. I gave him fresh milk twice a day, and the children fondled him.

"One day there was a commotion down at the barn, and Oscar had killed a prize shoat and was feasting. I scolded him, appealing to his better nature, and telling him how wrong it was.

"Not long afterwards Oscar ran down and killed one of my Jersey milkers that we depended upon for our butter and cream. Then I was righteously indignant, and didn't know what to do. I gave him a terrible tongue-lashing, and said, 'Oscar, if ever you do a thing like that again, I'll have to punish you severely.'

"Time went on, and one day I was smoking my pipe out in the yard, and a stranger came by and hollered out: 'A panther just jumped through your kitchen window.'

"I went on smoking, and said, 'If that animal has no more sense than to tackle my wife, he'll have to take the consequences.'

"And when he came out, I knew what had happened, and was terribly cut up by it, and getting my shotgun down I said, 'Now, Oscar, just for that I'm going to kill you.' But as I was about to pull the trigger, I said to myself, 'I can't do it, for whenever I look at Oscar, I think of the whole family.' "

This lurid yarn is a play-by-play account of a contest between an unregenerate yokel, who through indecision lost his volitionary power, and a panther who cannot change his spots. (Jeremiah 12:23).

As between the two contestants, which won? Here the reader will supply the answer, as in the case of "The Lady or the Tiger."

Some animals show more intelligence and are more human than some men. A dog will worship his master as a demigod though he be a scalawag.

A parrot of the Fifteenth Century could repeat the Apostles' Creed without hesitation, and that is more than half the population in my own can do, I ween.

Chickens have been known to enter the ministry, especially at conference time.

Man is a composite. He has his virtues, and his foibles. He knows one from the other and can choose between them. If his evil propensities are in the saddle he is headed toward ruin.

Your weakness may be a voracious appetite. You eat like a woodchopper, and dig your grave with your teeth. I asked an octogenarian to what he attributed his long life. He replied: "My wife was a good cook, Mrs. C. is a good cook, and—I keep away from the doctors."

A leopard cannot change his native disposition but a man can change his nature, if he doesn't trifle with destiny. A Caliban can become a saint, and a Magdalen a madonna.

The chameleon has a "design for living," and by protective coloring eludes his enemies and lives.

The dinosaur could not adjust to geologic change, and so became extinct.

Vital religion has a design for living in a climate of scientific, sociological and economic change. We can't go on living on grandmother's religion, however soothing and satisfying it was in her day. We must add a new stanza to the song we sang with unction in the days when life was simpler, and sing: "It is good for race relations, and it's good enough for me."

Dr. Jekyll is the "would-do-good" of man's nature. Mr. Hyde is "the-evil-that-is-present."

Dr. Jekyll is an honorable man above reproach. Mr. Hyde is a reprobate. They can change back and forth, the one to the other, by administering a potion.

Mr. Hyde committed a murder, and Dr. Jekyll revolted against the whole intrigue. At last when he can procure no more of one of the ingredients of the mixture, he commits suicide.

So it happens when one has no adequate design for living, opines

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most of us have experienced the traid; adolescence, acne, and oily skin. No one knows why the grease glands become over active at this time of life but the production of sex hormones undoubtedly plays a role. Disturbed fat and carbohydrate metabolism is blamed but the elimination of fatty foods, starches, and sweets from the diet does not cure the skin disorder. They aggregate rather than originate it.

Emotional factors also influence acne but whether as cause or effect is not easy to determine. It is natural to become emotionally upset when the face is disfigured by blackheads and pimples, particularly in adolescence when confusion, frustration, and anxiety are rife. It is common knowledge that the outbreak gets worse during an unhappy love affair or a difficult period in school.

Some of the most severe cases have been noted in young people who are highly neurotic or have a marked inferiority complex. Some have an unhappy home life or a reputation for being uncooperative patients.

The male hormone is believed to be the main culprit. Eunuchs and girls will develop acne if given this hormone. But an excess of male sex hormone does not produce the condition in men, nor does the administration of female sex hormones consistently bring acne under control.

Regardless of the hormonal state, the skin disturbance usually responds to a simple plan of treatment. The victim should not sqeeze or pick the lesions nor apply greasy preparations that only add to skin oiliness. The face must be washed frequently with soap and water.

It is not advisable to eat foods that from experience are known to make acne worse. Chocolate, seafood & nuts, and iodized salt are the worst culprits. A Chicago dermatologist found that some of his adolescent patients with pimples and oily skin were suffering from bromism instead of acne.

These youngsters were eating large amounts of bread made with flour containing a bromate. The percentage of this chemical in each slice is infinitesimal but when an excessive quantity of bread is consumed day after day, a mild bromide reaction occurs.

The best diet is low in fats and starches and high in proteins. Fresh fruits and vegetables help counteract constipation. When emotional problems are factors, the victim must train himself not to worry too much about unimportant things.

Ample sleep is beneficial as well as out of door exercise and sun. Most of the recommended lotions are special cleansers and the ointments usually contain sulfur or resorcin to dry the skin and decrease oiliness.

TOXEMIA AND UREMIA

C. M. writes: Are toxemia and uremia the same?

REPLY

No. Uremia stems from failure of the kidneys to function properly. Toxemia comes from the accumulation of poisonous (toxic) substances in the system.

CAESAREAN DELIVERIES

Mrs. V. writes: Can a woman have more than three caesarean births?

REPLY

This would depend upon the woman's health and the condition of her uterus. In a recent study of 130 women, more than 64 per cent had had more than four; 30 women had had five, and nine had had six caesarean sections. Five women had had seven such deliveries, one had had nine, and another 10. Of the 638 deliveries, 43 of the babies died.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

In Honolulu the families are large, particularly among the descendants of Japanese emigrants. One thriving household numbered an even dozen youngsters. The youngest, age 8, came home from school with a drawing her teacher had praised. Her mother was even more enthusiastic. "You will grow up to be a great artist," she predicted, "but you must remember, of course, that I am slightly perjudiced."

"Oh, mama," wailed the daughter. "Not again!"

"When I married Mrs. Hackenfuss," recalled Mr. Hackenfuss wistfully, "I was determined to be the boss or know the reason why. Now I certainly know the reason why!"

Garrett County Grower To Get Egg Trophy

DEER PARK—Mrs. V. L. DeWitt, RD 2, Deer Park, Garrett County, will receive one of the first Champion Egg producer trophies to be awarded in the United States, Victor L. Koenig, executive secretary of the Hy-Line Poultry Management Association has anounced. Mrs. DeWitt's 12 months score was 250.7 eggs per hen housed.

With about 250 other farmers and poultrymen in several Eastern states Mrs. DeWitt has been a cooperator in a unique Management Record Program started last season. Its purpose is to give farmers who keep poultry some of the benefits that dairymen have derived from their DHIA's. The program differs from ordinary systems of farm record keeping in that the cooperators send each month's records in to the Wallace Hy-Cross Hatcheries at Doylestown, Pa. The records are analyzed and each cooperator gets back a monthly report showing how the performance of his flock compares with the performance of other flocks of the same age and breeding.

Garrett County Christmas Tree Growers Meet

Plan Permanent Organization

OAKLAND—A meeting of Christmas tree growers in Garrett County was held recently at the Oakland Fire Hall at which plans to form an association were discussed. A tour of area Christmas tree plantings was also held.

At the Oakland watershed and Mance plantations the group observed Scotch pine that had been sheared to improve its form, deer damage to pines, recent machine plantings and areas where Christmas trees have been removed. During the brief business meeting the group heard remarks on development of the reforstation program and held a general discussion concerning benefits to be derived from an association.

The group appointed Thomas Thayer as temporary chairman. He appointed a committee to complete organizational plans, including Dwight Stover, chairman, Dr. A. E. Mance, W. W. Nace, George Browning and Marvin Beitzel.

This group will bring its recommendations to a meeting December 10 and final details are to be worked out at that time.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Swivel-hipped Eddie Cecil romped to four touchdowns, one a 95-yard runback of a punt, as his Allegany High teammates exhibited some of the best blocking of the year last night to lead the Campers to a 33-14 triumph over previously unbeaten Elkins High at Fort Hill Stadium.

A shivering crowd of approximately 2,500, including five busloads of students from the West Virginia community, watched enthralled as the slender Allegany halfback ran wild despite several costly fumbles.

Score Seventh Victory

Coach Roy Lester's unbeaten Campers racked up their seventh consecutive victory in convincing fashion after scoring twice because of two excellent punt returns by Cecil, then taking advantage of desperation plays by the visitors which forced them into mistakes which Allegany capitalized into additional scores.

Following several exchanges of punts in the first quarter as the two rugged lines battled on even terms, Allegany suddenly broke into the scoring column when Bob Fletcher took Bill Wise's kick on the Elkins 44, handed off to Cecil and the Camper speedster swirled down the sidelines behind excellent blocking to the West Virginians' 5, a 39-yard runback. Cecil was forced out of bounds by Butch Koontz and Gary Phillips.

Elkins Recovers Fumble

Midway in the second period Elkins recovered Mike Lease's fumble on the Allegany 37 but was unable to gain.

Wise quick-kicked, catching Allegany by surprise. Cecil raced back, took the bounding pigskin over his head on the Camper 5, reversed his field, shook off a tackle which pushed him into the end zone, then behind scythe-like blocking from his mates, raced down the sidelines the length of the field into paydirt. Lonnie Jackson kicked the point for a 14-0 Allegany lead at halftime.

In the third period Elkins, gambling to get back in the game, lost the ball on downs on its 49.

Cecil and Don Perdew, who gained 101 yards between them to bolster Allegany's running attack, pushed the ball to the Elkins 36. John Workmeister picked up two yards and then Lease dropped back, pitched a strike to Cecil on the Elkins 10 and Eddie raced over for his third straight touchdown. Jackson's kick was wide and Allegany led 20-0.

Pass Is Intercepted

Elkins recovered another Allegany fumble on the Campers' 37 and five plays later scored, a 14-yard pass from Wise to Phillips producing the score. Koontz' kick was perfect.

In the fourth stanza an Elkins pass was intercepted by Jesse Ketterman on the Campers 42 and the lineman returned to the visitors' 41. Cecil picked up 13 and Dave Conley 10 to put the ball on the Elkins 16. Doug Walker then raced off tackle for the touchdown. Jackson made it 27-7 with his placement.

Moments later and Elkins fumble set up the final Allegany counter and Cecil took Lease's pass in the end zone to cap a 27-yard scoring play.

Elkins picked up three first downs in a late drive for its final touchdown as Koontz bucked over from the one just as the game ended. The lineups:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — West Virginia's seventh ranked football team rallied from a 7-0 halftime deficit to grind out a 13-7 victory over a stubborn George Washington team that narrowly missed the upset of the year.

Undismayed by West Virginia's nation-leading offensive record, the underdog GW team took everything the Mountaineers had to offer and then drove all the way to the West Virginia 15 before Tom Domen intercepted a pass to stop the threat a minute before the game ended.

Moss Runs 43 Yards

It wasn't until Bobby Moss, a hard-running halfback from Huntington, W. Va., burst 43 yards through the line late in the third period that the Mountaineers began looking like their press clippings.

Up to that time, GW's big, mobile line had been racking up West Virginia when the chips were down. And little Mike Sommer, a 165-pound speedster, had darted 89 yards for the score that allowed GW to leave the field ahead at halftime.

Sam Huff's placekick after Moss' 43-yard run tied the game at 7-7 and the Mountaineers then untied it the hard way, driving 98 yards for the winning touchdown. Larry Krutko bucked the last two yards.

Then, suddenly, GW's Bob Sturm, who hadn't done much passing at all, opened up. Three fast throws, two to end Paul Thompson and one to Sommer, carried GW from its own 15 to the West Virginia 15.

Looney Stops Drive

Boyd TKOs Johnson In 8

The fight was stopped at 2:55 of the round. The bout had been scheduled for 10 rounds.

Boyd weighed 160¼, Johnson 157.

Johnson began landing effectively in the third round, fighting on more-or-less even terms and picking up the votes of two officials in the fourth round.

Boyd, bothered by body blows, showed signs of weakening in the fourth but came back strong in the fifth round before he was dropped in the sixth by Johnson.

Early in the sixth round, Boyd shook up Johnson with several combinations to the head, but Johnson rallied and dropped the Chicagoan for a nine-count shortly before the bell.

Referee Frank Sikora had Boyd ahead after seven rounds, 65-63; Judge John Bray had it 64-63 in favor of Boyd and Judge Frank McAdams had the Chicagoan ahead, 65-59. The AP had Boyd ahead, 66-62.

The victory was Boyd's 36th against 6 losses and 2 draws. It was Johnson's seventh loss in 39 bouts.

The bout was a fill-in for the postponed title bout between Sugar Ray Robinson and middleweight Champion Carl Bobo Olson which was set back to Dec. 9.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 4 (AP) — Tiny Tad Weed, Ohio State's place kick specialist, last night signed a contract with the National Football League Pittsburgh Steelers.

Miami Tops Boston, 14-7

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 4 (AP) — Fast-stepping Jack Losch broke away for two brilliant first-half touchdown runs tonight but it took luck and desperate defensive play for Miami's Hurricanes to salvage a 14-7 victory over Boston College.

Bill Donlan's pinpoint passing enabled the Eagles to dominate the second half, but fumbles by Larry Plenty and Ed Desilva killed their chances after they had twice driven to first downs inside the Miami 10-yard line.

Losch, a rangy sprinter on the Miami track team, first showed his heels to the visiting easterners in a dazzling 73-yard scoring race in the opening period. He had taken a neat lateral from fullback Don Bosseler, who threw the ball as he was going down under a horder of Eagle tacklers.

Midway in the second period, Losch grabbed another pitchout and set sail on a 44-yard touchdown run that left his Eagle pursers far in his rear. Ed Oliver kicked the extra points after both scores to send Miami into halftime with a 14-0 margin.

Then Boston College began an impressive but futile comeback drive. Fumbles stopped the Eagles after they had driven to first downs in the Miami five and six, another march carried to a first down at the Hurricane four, but this time the Miami line reared up to throw Dolan back to the 10.

Miami	7	7	0	0	—14

Bruce High School's Bulldogs staved off a fourth quarter rally by the Beall High Mountaineers yesterday to windup the W.M.I. Soccer League season with a 3-2 decision over the Frostburg eleven in a game played at Westernport.

The victory gave Coach Leonard Ritchie's team a 6-1-1 record for the season.

"Sonny" Fortney, Gene Dawson, Clyde Beard and Frank Welsh, of Bruce, and Bernard Carter, Lewis Llewellyn, Neil Sweene and Fred Broadwater of Beall were the outstanding players in the final game of the season for both teams.

Mt. Savage Wins, 2-0

At Mt. Savage Coach John Thomas' Indians gained a deadlock with Beall for third place with their 2-0 triumph over last-place Flintstone. Each have identical 2-5-1 marks.

Mt. Savage's George Bishfields missed two penalty goals, one in the first quarter and the second in the third period.

Outstanding for the Indians were Goalie Wayne Fleegle, Roy Hott, Bill Clauson and Whitehead. Best bets for Coach Orville Jackson's Aggies were Ted Robinette, Ken Lough, and Richard Shipway.

TERRA ALTA, W. Va., Nov. 4— Southern High's Highlanders, starting an all-senior eleven, closed out their 1955 football season here today by defeating Terra Alta High, 26-0, in a game which was postponed here October 14.

Halback Fred Colaw tossed a 19-yard aerial to Toby Colaw in the second quarter to open Southern's scoring attack. In the third stanza End Dan Garrett caught a nine-yard pass from Toby Colaw on the Terra Alta four and went into the end zone for the second Highlanders score. Toby Colaw added the point from placement to give Souther a 13-0 lead.

In the final quarter Southern scored a pair of touchdowns when Bill Deckman plunged over from the three and a few minute later Charles Mason smashed through tackle from the five. Toby Colaw added the extra point following Deckman's scoring effort. The linescore:

Cy Young, 88, Former Major Hurler, Dies

Won 511 Contests, Struck Out 2,832

By FRITZ HOWELL

PEOLI, Ohio, Nov. 4 (AP) — Cy Young died today.

Baseball knew him as its greatest winning pitcher, first flinger to enter the hall of fame. His 30-odd neighbors in this tiny village knew him for the most tender and enduring love story ever written in his native Tuscarawas County hills.

Cy Young

Cy was 88. It was 65 years ago that he trudged out of the hill country, a raw-boned farm youth of 23, to write one of the most glowing chapters in baseball's history. He appeared in 906 games over a 22-year span in the big leagues, winning 511 and losing 315. He pitched four no-hit games, three in the majors.

Quit At Age Of 45

He was 45 when he finally hung up his glove, after losing a 1-0 game to a youthful Grover Cleveland Alexander. He had struck out 2,832 batters in his long career.

Cy, despite his fabulous record, never earned more than $2,500 a year in baseball. His first salary at Cleveland—he was traded to that club by Canton, Ohio, for a suit of clothes—was $1,400.

"But I got home with more than $1,000 of that first year's pay," Cy recalled years ago. "And when I got home, with more money in one lump than anyone in these hills had ever seen, I married the girl on the next farm. (That was Robba Miller, nicknamed 'Bobby').

Wife Died In 1934

"For almost a quarter of a century we walked hand-in-hand through baseball. Then we came home and moved into the old house I had inherited from my grandparents who had raised me. But Bobby died in 1934, and somehow I didn't want to live there anymore."

Then old Cy recalled how he moved, in 1935, to the hilltop home of Mr. and Mrs. John Benedum.

"From up here," he said, "I can look down on the little churchyard where Bobby is buried. I'll just stay here, waiting for the day when I can join her."

Today, at 9:30 a.m., death came to the colorful and beloved No. 1 citizen of the hill country as he sat in his favorite armchair in front of the window at the Benedum home. From the window he could see the little cemetery of the Peoli Methodist Church—where he probably will be buried alongside his beloved Bobby.

WESTMINSTER, Md., Nov. 4 — Westminster High School's Owls, beaten five times in eight previous outings, surprised tonight by holding the highly favored Fort Hill School Sentinels of Cumberland to a one-touchdown victory before a crowd of 600 spectators in cold weather. The final score was 13-6.

The triumph was the eighth straight for the once-defeated Allegany Countians and their fifth consecutive win of the series with Coach Herb Ruby's teams. It also was the fourth straight victory away from home for the Cumberlanders.

Crawford Runs 85 For TD

Jim Crawford, Fort Hill halfback, provided the big thrill of the contest when he took the opening kickoff and returned it 85 yards for a touchdown, thus duplicating a feat he performed in Cumberland last season when the Sentinels whipped the Owls by the score of 27-7. Clarence "Pooch" Lewis kicked the extra point to give the visitors a 7-0 edge.

Westminster, however, came back with a vengeance by taking the kickoff and driving 80 yards for its lone score of the game. Kenneth Seitz tallied from six yards out but the Owls failed to tie the score when Quarterback Jim Head fumbled the ball on the try for point.

Fumble Sets Up Score

Recovery of a Westminster fumble on the Owls' 29 set up the winning score for Coach Bill Hahn's team in the third period. The visitors drove to the five from where John Kesler tallied. Lewis' kick for the point was wide.

Fort Hill came within a yard of scoring its third touchdown in the same period but the drive was thwarted when Carl Brothers, Westminster tackle, recovered Crawford's fumble. Later in the third stanza John Kesler raced 27 yards to paydirt but the score was nullified due to a clipping penalty.

Westminster put on a march late in the final period but this threat bogged down on the 19 where the invaders took over on downs. With only two minutes remaining Fort Hill ran out the clock.

Seitz Paces Gainers

Seitz was Westminster's chief ground gainer. He piled up 85 yards in 13 carries for an average of 6.5. Lewis and Kesler sparked the victors' offensive by reeling off 72 yards each in 11 tries apiece for 6.5. Crawford carried four times for 27 yards, an average of 6.8.

The loss was the sixth for the Owls against two wins and a tie game.

Colts-Detroit, Steelers-Cards Clash Tonight

Cleveland Invades New York Sunday

By JACK HAND
The Associated Press

The Detroit Lions, staggering along on a six-game losing streak, have a chance to make their weight felt in the Western Conference they ruled last year when they play the Baltimore Colts Saturday night in a National Football League game.

Baltimore's brilliant rookies have boosted the Colts into a first place tie with Los Angeles in the Western half of the 12-club league. With Alan Ameche, the top ground gainer in the league, and George Shaw showing the way, the Colts enjoy a 4-2 season record, including a 28-13 victory over the Lions at Baltimore. Their Saturday night meeting at Detroit will be watched by about 45,000 fans.

Another Saturday night game at Chicago between the Pittsburgh Steelers and Chicago Cardinals could be of prime importance if Cleveland should stumble Sunday afternoon. The Steelers, 14-7 winners over the Cards in the opening game, are only a game behind Cleveland in the Eastern Conference.

Browns Conceded Edge

Cleveland is a 10-point favorite to roll to its sixth straight over the New York Giants at Cleveland on Sunday. It's the first meeting of the two teams this year. Led by Otto Graham, the Browns have won five in a row since losing to Washington in the opener 27-17.

In the wide-open scramble of the Western Conference, Los Angeles, tied with Baltimore at 4-2, plays San Francisco at Los Angeles Sunday. The Rams won the first game 23-24 but the 49ers, with Joey Perry and Y. A. Tittle, are slight favorites to grab this one on the road.

Two Games In Chicago

Green Bay and the Chicago Bears, tied with San Francisco, for the runnerup spot in the Western Conference, play Sunday at Chicago's Wrigley Field. It will be one of the few times that both the Bears and Cardinals have played in Chicago on the same weekend, except when playing one another.

Swivel-hipped Eddie Cecil romped to four touchdowns, one a 95-yard runback of a punt, as his Allegany High teammates exhibited some of the best blocking of the year last night to lead the Campers to a 33-14 triumph over previously unbeaten Elkins High at Fort Hill Stadium.

A shivering crowd of approximately 2,500, including five busloads of students from the West Virginia community, watched enthralled as the slender Allegany halfback ran wild despite several costly fumbles.

Score Seventh Victory

Coach Roy Lester's unbeaten Campers racked up their seventh consecutive victory in convincing fashion after scoring twice because of two excellent punt returns by Cecil, then taking advantage of desperation plays by the visitors which forced them into mistakes which Allegany capitalized into additional scores.

Following several exchanges of punts in the first quarter as the two rugged lines battled on even terms, Allegany suddenly broke into the scoring column when Bob Fletcher took Bill Wise's kick on the Elkins 44, handed off to Cecil and the Camper speedster swirled down the sidelines behind excellent blocking to the West Virginians' 5, a 39-yard runback. Cecil was forced out of bounds by Butch Koontz and Gary Phillips.

Elkins Recovers Fumble

Midway in the second period Elkins recovered Mike Lease's fumble on the Allegany 37 but was unable to gain.

Wise quick-kicked, catching Allegany by surprise. Cecil raced back, took the bounding pigskin over his head on the Camper 5, reversed his field, shook off a tackle which pushed him into the end zone, then behind scythe-like blocking from his mates, raced down the sidelines the length of the field into paydirt. Lonnie Jackson kicked the point for a 14-0 Allegany lead at halftime.

In the third period Elkins, gambling to get back in the game, lost the ball on downs on its 49.

Cecil and Don Perdew, who gained 101 yards between them to bolster Allegany's running attack, pushed the ball to the Elkins 36. John Workmeister picked up two yards and then Lease dropped back, pitched a strike to Cecil on the Elkins 10 and Eddie raced over for his third straight touchdown. Jackson's kick was wide and Allegany led 20-0.

Pass Is Intercepted

Elkins recovered another Allegany fumble on the Campers' 37 and five plays later scored a 14-yard pass from Wise to Phillips producing the score. Koontz' kick was perfect.

In the fourth stanza an Elkins pass was intercepted by Jesse Ketterman on the Campers 42 and the lineman returned to the visitors' 41. Cecil picked up 13 and Dave Conley 10 to put the ball on the Elkins 16. Doug Walker then raced off tackle for the touchdown. Jackson made it 27-7 with his placement.

Moments later and Elkins fumble set up the final Allegany counter and Cecil took Lease's pass in the end zone to cap a 27-yard scoring play.

Elkins picked up three first downs in a late drive for its final touchdown as Koontz bucked over from the one just as the game ended. The lineups:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — West Virginia's seventh ranked football team rallied from a 7-0 halftime deficit to grind out a 13-7 victory over a stubborn George Washington team that narrowly missed the upset of the year.

Undismayed by West Virginia's nation-leading offensive record, the underdog GW team took everything the Mountaineers had to offer and then drove all the way to the West Virginia 15 before Tom Domen intercepted a pass to stop the threat a minute before the game ended.

Moss Runs 43 Yards

It wasn't until Bobby Moss, a hard-running halfback from Huntington, W. Va., burst 43 yards through the line late in the third period that the Mountaineers began looking like their press clippings.

Up to that time, GW's big, mobile line had been racking up West Virginia when the chips were down. And little Mike Sommer, a 165-pound speedster, had darted 89 yards for the score that allowed GW to leave the field ahead at halftime.

Sam Huff's placekick after Moss' 43-yard run tied the game at 7-7 and the Mountaineers then untied it the hard way, driving 98 yards for the winning touchdown. Larry Krutko bucked the last two yards.

Then, suddenly, GW's Bob Sturm, who hadn't done much passing at all, opened up. Three fast throws, two to end Paul Thompson and one to Sommer, carried GW from its own 15 to the West Virginia 15.

Looney Stops Drive

Boyd TKOs Johnson In 8

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP) — Bobby Boyd, slugging Chicago middleweight, tonight scored an eight-round technical knockout over George Johnson, Trenton, N.J.

The fight was stopped at 2:55 of the round. The bout had been scheduled for 10 rounds.

Boyd weighed 160¼, Johnson 157.

Johnson began landing effectively in the third round, fighting on more-or-less even terms and picking up the votes of two officials in the fourth round.

Boyd, bothered by body blows, showed signs of weakening in the fourth but came back strong in the fifth round before he was dropped in the sixth by Johnson.

Early in the sixth round, Boyd shook up Johnson with several combinations to the head, but Johnson rallied and dropped the Chicagoan for a nine-count shortly before the bell.

Referee Frank Sikora had Boyd ahead after seven rounds, 65-63; Judge John Bray had it 64-63 in favor of Boyd and Judge Frank McAdams had the Chicagoan ahead, 65-59. The AP had Boyd ahead, 66-62.

The victory was Boyd's 36th against 6 losses and 2 draws. It was Johnson's seventh loss in 39 bouts.

The bout was a fill-in for the postponed title bout between Sugar Ray Robinson and middleweight Champion Carl Bobo Olson which was set back to Dec. 9.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 4 (AP) — Tiny Tad Weed, Ohio State's place kick specialist, last night signed a contract with the National Football League Pittsburgh Steelers.

Miami Tops Boston, 14-7

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 4 (AP) — Fast-stepping Jack Losch broke away for two brilliant first-half touchdown runs tonight but it took luck and desperate defensive play for Miami's Hurricanes to salvage a 14-7 victory over Boston College.

Bill Donlan's pinpoint passing enabled the Eagles to dominate the second half, but fumbles by Larry Plenty and Ed Desilva killed their chances after they had twice driven to first downs inside the Miami 10-yard line.

Losch, a rangy sprinter on the Miami track team, first showed his heels to the visiting easterners in a dazzling 73-yard scoring race in the opening period. He had taken a neat lateral from fullback Don Bosseler, who threw the ball as he was going down under a horder of Eagle tacklers.

Midway in the second period, Losch grabbed another pitchout and set sail on a 44-yard touchdown run that left his Eagle pursers far in his rear. Ed Oliver kicked the extra points after both scores to send Miami into halftime with a 14-0 margin.

Then Boston College began an impressive but futile comeback drive. Fumbles stopped the Eagles after they had driven to first downs in the Miami five and six, another march carried to a first down at the Hurricane four, but this time the Miami line reared up to throw Dolan back to the 10.

Miami	7	7	0	0	—14

Cy Young, 88, Former Major Hurler, Dies

Won 511 Contests, Struck Out 2,832

By FRITZ HOWELL

PEOLI, Ohio, Nov. 4 (AP) — Cy Young died today.

Baseball knew him as its greatest winning pitcher, first flinger to enter the hall of fame. His 30-odd neighbors in this tiny village knew him for the most ender and enduring love story ever written in his native Tuscarawas County hills.

Cy Young

Cy was 88. It was 65 years ago that he trudged out of the hill country, a raw-boned farm youth of 23, to write one of the most glowing chapters in baseball's history. He appeared in 906 games over a 22-year span in the big leagues, winning 511 and losing 315. He pitched four no-hit games, three in the majors.

Quit At Age Of 45

He was 45 when he finally hung up his glove, after losing a 1-0 game to a youthful Grover Cleveland Alexander. He had struck out 2,832 batters in his long career.

Cy, despite his fabulous record, never earned more than $2,500 a year in baseball. His first salary at Cleveland—he was traded to that club by Canton, Ohio, for a suit of clothes—was $1,400.

"But I got home with more than $1,000 of that first year's pay," Cy recalled years ago. "And when I got home, with more money in one lump than anyone in these hills had ever seen, I married the girl on the next farm. (That was Robba Miller, nicknamed 'Bobby').

Wife Died In 1934

"For almost a quarter of a century we walked hand-in-hand through baseball. Then we came home and moved into the old house I had inherited from my grandparents who had raised me. But Bobby died in 1934, and somehow I didn't want to live there anymore."

Then old Cy recalled how he moved, in 1935, to the hilltop home of Mr. and Mrs. John Benedum.

"From up here," he said, "I can look down on the little churchyard where Bobby is buried. I'll just stay here, waiting for the day when I can join her."

Today, at 9:30 a.m., death came to the colorful and beloved No. 1 citizen of the hill country as he sat in his favorite armchair in front of the window at the Benedum home. From the window he could see the little cemetery of the Peoli Methodist Church—where he probably will be buried alongside his beloved Bobby.

WESTMINSTER, Md., Nov. 4 — Westminster High School's Owls, beaten five times in eight previous outings, surprised tonight by holding the highly favored Fort Hill School Sentinels of Cumberland to a one-touchdown victory before a crowd of 600 spectators in cold weather. The final score was 13-6.

The triumph was the eighth straight for the once-defeated Allegany Countians and their fifth consecutive win of the series with Coach Herb Ruby's teams. It also was the fourth straight victory away from home for the Cumberlanders.

Crawford Runs 85 For TD

Jim Crawford, Fort Hill halfback, provided the big thrill of the contest when he took the opening kickoff and returned it 85 yards for a touchdown, thus duplicating a feat he performed in Cumberland last season when the Sentinels whipped the Owls by the score of 27-7. Clarence "Pooch" Lewis kicked the extra point to give the visitors a 7-0 edge.

Westminster, however, came back with a vengeance by taking the kickoff and driving 80 yards for its lone score of the game. Kenneth Seitz tallied from six yards out but the Owls failed to tie the score when Quarterback Jim Head fumbled the ball on the try for point.

Neither team was able to score in the second period but Fort Hill did advance to the Owls' 11 where it lost the ball on downs.

Fumble Sets Up Score

Recovery of a Westminster fumble on the Owls' 29 set up the winning score for Coach Bill Hahn's team in the third period. The visitors drove to the five from where John Kesler tallied. Lewis' kick for the point was wide.

Fort Hill came within a yard of scoring its third touchdown in the same period but the drive was thwarted when Carl Brothers, Westminster tackle, recovered Crawford's fumble. Later in the third stanza John Kesler raced 27 yards to paydirt but the score was nullified due to a clipping penalty.

Westminster put on a march late in the final period but this threat bogged down on the 19 where the invaders took over on downs. With only two minutes remaining Fort Hill ran out the clock.

Seitz Paces Gainers

Seitz was Westminster's chief ground gainer. He piled up 85 yards in 13 carries for an average of 6.5. Lewis and Kesler sparked the victors' offensive by reeling off 72 yards each in 11 tries apiece for 6.5. Crawford carried four times for 27 yards, an average of 6.8.

The loss was the sixth for the Owls against two wins and a tie game.

It was the Sentinels' final game before their city championship battle with unbeaten and untied Allegany High on Thanksgiving Day. The lineups:

The Detroit Lions, staggering along on a six-game losing streak, have a chance to make their weight felt in the Western Conference they ruled last year when they play the Baltimore Colts Saturday night in a National Football League game.

Baltimore's brilliant rookies have boosted the Colts into a first place tie with Los Angeles in the Western half of the 12-club league. With Alan Ameche, the top ground gainer in the league, and George Shaw showing the way, the Colts enjoy a 4-2 season record, including a 28-13 victory over the Lions at Baltimore. Their Saturday night meeting at Detroit will be watched by about 45,000 fans.

Another Saturday night game at Chicago between the Pittsburgh Steelers and Chicago Cardinals could be of prime importance if Cleveland should stumble Sunday afternoon. The Steelers, 14-7 winners over the Cards in the opening game, are only a game behind Cleveland in the Eastern Conference.

Browns Conceded Edge

Cleveland is a 10-point favorite to roll to its sixth straight over the New York Giants at Cleveland on Sunday. It's the first meeting of the two teams this year. Led by Otto Graham, the Browns have won five in a row since losing to Washington in the opener 27-17.

In the wide-open scramble of the Western Conference, Los Angeles, tied with Baltimore at 4-2, plays San Francisco at Los Angeles Sunday. The Rams won the first game 23-24 but the 49ers, with Joey Perry and Y. A. Tittle, are slight favorites to grab this one on the road.

Two Games In Chicago

Green Bay and the Chicago Bears, tied with San Francisco, for the runnerup spot in the Western Conference, play Sunday at Chicago's Wrigley Field. It will be one of the few times that both the Bears and Cardinals have played in Chicago on the same weekend, except when playing one another.

Ridgeley Closes Campaign With LaSalle Here Tonight

Meet In 15th Game Of Series; Potomac Plays At Wesleyan

Won 7, Lost 1

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks, enjoying their best season since they won six out of seven games in 1947, will close their 1955 gridiron campaign tonight when they do battle with LaSalle's Explorers, who have been having a lean season, at the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

Coach Chester Payne's eleven puts a 7-1 record and a four-game winning streak on the line against a LaSalle aggregation that is 1-4-1 for the season and has gone down to defeat in its last four outings.

Must Finish Strong

To crash the .500 column for the season, LaSalle must score three wins and play one tie in its four remaining games with Ridgeley, Altoona Catholic, away, Romney, home, and Beall High away on Thanksgiving Day. One more defeat, however, would keep LaSalle below the .500 mark for the first time since 1952 when the Explorers finished with a 3-5-1. Coach Norman Geatz's teams had a 7-2 record in 1952, 7-2 in 1953 and 8-2 last year.

Comparative scores in games with Keyser and Petersburg give Ridgeley an edge in tonight's game but La Salle could make it interesting for the boys from across the Potomac.

It's the 15th game of the series that started in 1939 and LaSalle is ahead with 10 wins to Ridgeley's four. The Explorers have taken four in a row from the Hawks since the latter last won in 1950 by the score of 14-13.

Potomac At Wesleyan

Potomac State plays its sixth West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference game of the season today, meeting West Virginia Wesleyan's Bobcats at Buckhannon. The Catamounts have won two games and lost three three and could crash the .500 circle in the W.V.I.C. with a win today. One week from today Coach "Horse" Lough's team winds up its nine-game card by playing Fairmont State College in Keyser. Potomac's overall record in four wins, three losses.

Needing two more wins to complete a perfect season, Shepherd College is scheduled to play Wilson Teachers of Washington today at Shepherdstown, W. Va. Coach Donald Fuoss' Rams have bagged six in a row and wins today over Wilson and next Saturday over Newport News (Va.) would give the West Virginians an 8-0 mark for 1955.

Hospital To Release Gerry Walker Today

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 4 (AP) — Gerald Walker, former major league baseball player who was paralyzed after a diving accident two months ago, will be released from the hospital tomorrow.

"He's walking out of the hospital under his own power," said Dr. Richard H. Walker Jr., Gerald's brother and an orthopedic physician here.

Dr. Walker said his brother has regained full use of his arms and legs much quicker than anyone expected he would.

On Aug. 28, a few days after he came here from Detroit for the winter, Walker dived into Lake Griffin and struck either the bottom or an obstruction in the water.

Meet In 15th Game Of Series; Potomac Plays At Wesleyan

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks, enjoying their best season since they won six out of seven games in 1947, will close their 1955 gridiron campaign tonight when they do battle with LaSalle's Explorers, who have been having a lean season, at the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

Coach Chester Payne's eleven puts a 7-1 record and a four-game winning streak on the line against a LaSalle aggregation that is 1-4-1 for the season and has gone down to defeat in its last four outings.

Must Finish Strong

To crash the .500 column for the season, LaSalle must score three wins and play one tie in its four remaining games with Ridgeley, Altoona Catholic, away, Romney, home, and Beall High away on Thanksgiving Day. One more defeat, however, would keep LaSalle below the .500 mark for the first time since 1952 when the Explorers finished with a 3-5-1. Coach Norman Geatz's teams had a 7-2 record in 1952, 7-2 in 1953 and 8-2 last year.

Comparative scores in games with Keyser and Petersburg give Ridgeley an edge in tonight's game but La Salle could make it interesting for the boys from across the Potomac.

It's the 15th game of the series that started in 1939 and LaSalle is ahead with 10 wins to Ridgeley's four. The Explorers have taken four in a row from the Hawks since the latter last won in 1950 by the score of 14-13.

Potomac At Wesleyan

Potomac State plays its sixth West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference game of the season today, meeting West Virginia Wesleyan's Bobcats at Buckhannon. The Catamounts have won two games and lost three three and could crash the .500 circle in the W.V.I.C. with a win today. One week from today Coach "Horse" Lough's team winds up its nine-game card by playing Fairmont State College in Keyser. Potomac's overall record in four wins, three losses.

Needing two more wins to complete a perfect season, Shepherd College is scheduled to play Wilson Teachers of Washington today at Shepherdstown, W. Va. Coach Donald Fuoss' Rams have bagged six in a row and wins today over Wilson and next Saturday over Newport News (Va.) would give the West Virginians an 8-0 mark for 1955.

Hospital To Release Gerry Walker Today

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 4 (AP) — Gerald Walker, former major league baseball player who was paralyzed after a diving accident two months ago, will be released from the hospital tomorrow.

"He's walking out of the hospital under his own power," said Dr. Richard H. Walker Jr., Gerald's brother and an orthopedic physician here.

Dr. Walker said his brother has regained full use of his arms and legs much quicker than anyone expected he would.

On Aug. 28, a few days after he came here from Detroit for the winter, Walker dived into Lake Griffin and struck either the bottom or an obstruction in the water.

Paralysis gradually spread over his whole body.

Hartack completed a New Jersey suspension Tuesday and that afternoon rode three winners at this track. On Wednesday he went to Garden State Park and was blanked. Yesterday he returned to Maryland and again came home with three winners to his credit.

Included in this trio of scores today was the featured $3,000 Reciprocity Club Purse in which he drove Mrs. Frank Frankel's Final Pole to a head decision over Ferro.

Is Dandruff Your Deadly Enemy?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Dandruff, if neglected, can actually cause baldness. When excessive scruff — that dead, scale-like skin — gathers on the scalp, it clogs the pores and mixes with the oil secretions. This forms a gummy substance which shuts off the tiny pore openings on the scalp and smothers the hair growth. You know that the skin must breathe to be healthy. And it can't if it is clogged with waste material.

The hair root is destroyed when the cells become inactive. That's when the hair starts falling out. If nothing is done to clear up the dandruff — there is no new hair to replace it, and suddenly a bald spot appears.

Before I go any further, I want to remind you that dandruff is not the label for all types of scalp flake. A certain amount of flake that can be carried off by brushing and shampooing is a normal way the scalp has of shedding the scalp's cuticle. Sometimes so-called dandruff is merely a flaking of soap curds from badly rinsed hair.

Get rid of dandruff if you have it. Control it before it has a chance to start when you see first signs of it. Dandruff not only weakens the hair, but makes it lifeless and lacking in luster. After you do free the hair of dandruff, it is wise to take precautions occasionally against its reappearance.

The danger in diagnosing your own scalp of abnormal flake is that you can very readily mistake a trifling case for a serious one. I advise that if the scalp is irritated and widely affected and you have the slightest doubt about it, consult a doctor.

Monday—A slim trimming.

Case Against City Settled For $5,000

Papers were filed in Circuit Court yesterday showing a compromise settlement of the claim of a former member of the Cumberland Fire Department against the city.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, said the city and counsel for James Hugh Hunter, 26, who made a claim after collapsing while riding on one of the city fire trucks on September 24, 1954, reached a settlement under which Hunter will receive payments totaling $5,000.

Hunter had been granted disability payments not to exceed $6,500 by the State Industrial Accident Commission at a hearing some time ago.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If slacks or any type of washable trousers are hung by the legs after washing, the wet weight of the garment removes many of the wrinkles, so that little pressing is needed.

Quinoa, a grain found in the Andes, is used by Peruvian Indians as a feed, a food and a beverage.

INEXCUSABLE DEFENSE

EAST couldn't be blamed for going off in the wrong direction in the deal below, but his subsequent defense, when it really mattered, was inexcusable.

West dealer.
East-West 40 on score.

	♠ Q 10 5 ♥ J 10 4 3 ♦ J 8 2 ♣ A J 8
♠ 9 ♥ 8 6 5 ♦ 10 7 5 4 ♣ 3 K Q 6 2	N W E S	♠ A J 8 4 ♥ 3 2 ♦ 7 ♣ A K 6 ♣ 10 5 4
	♠ K 7 6 ♥ A K Q 9 2 ♦ Q 9 ♣ 9 7 3

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	2 ♥
Pass	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	Pass
Pass

Even with both sides on score West couldn't afford to take any part in the auction—and he wouldn't have had to if East had defended reasonably well.

West opened his singleton spade, of course, but East couldn't know that it was a singleton, so he merely covered dummy's ten with the jack. South won and laid down his three high trumps, then led a club to dummy's eight in the hope of driving out a high honor from East. (Incidentally, West deserved credit for failing to split his club honors on the lead toward dummy.)

East, finding himself on lead with the club ten, now wrecked the defense by laying down the king and ace of diamonds, despite his partner's discouraging signal, the three-spot, on the first lead of the suit. Having established the diamond jack for declarer, East now felt that he might as well give him that card.

South discarded a spade while he won with dummy's diamond jack; then he led the ace and jack of clubs. West, thrown in, had to return a club or a diamond, on either of which South could discard his last spade loser while ruffing in dummy. Thus, the contract was fulfilled.

Quite aside from East's play at the first trick (which, to repeat, was excusable), the contract would have been defeated if East, after cashing only the diamond king, had made the marked shift to a club.

Is Dandruff Your Deadly Enemy?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Dandruff, if neglected, can actually cause baldness. When excessive scruff — that dead, scale-like skin — gathers on the scalp, it clogs the pores and mixes with the oil secretions. This forms a gummy substance which shuts off the tiny pore openings on the scalp and smothers the hair growth. You know that the skin must breathe to be healthy. And it can't if it is clogged with waste material.

The hair root is destroyed when the cells become inactive. That's when the hair starts falling out. If nothing is done to clear up the dandruff — there is no new hair to replace it, and suddenly a bald spot appears.

Before I go any further, I want to remind you that dandruff is not the label for all types of scalp flake. A certain amount of flake that can be carried off by brushing and shampooing is a normal way the scalp has of shedding the scalp's cuticle. Sometimes so-called dandruff is merely a flaking of soap curds from badly rinsed hair.

Get rid of dandruff if you have it. Control it before it has a chance to start when you see first signs of it. Dandruff not only weakens the hair, but makes it lifeless and lacking in luster. After you do free the hair of dandruff, it is wise to take precautions occasionally against its reappearance.

The danger in diagnosing your own scalp of abnormal flake is that you can very readily mistake a trifling case for a serious one. I advise that if the scalp is irritated and widely affected and you have the slightest doubt about it, consult a doctor.

Monday—A slim trimming.

Case Against City Settled For $5,000

Papers were filed in Circuit Court yesterday showing a compromise settlement of the claim of a former member of the Cumberland Fire Department against the city.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, said the city and counsel for James Hugh Hunter, 26, who made a claim after collapsing while riding on one of the city fire trucks on September 24, 1954, reached a settlement under which Hunter will receive payments totaling $5,000.

Hunter had been granted disability payments not to exceed $6,500 by the State Industrial Accident Commission at a hearing some time ago.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If slacks or any type of washable trousers are hung by the legs after washing, the wet weight of the garment removes many of the wrinkles, so that little pressing is needed.

Clara Mae Clark vs. James K. Clark. No. 24323 Equity, in the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

The Bill of Complaint states that the parties were married on the 3rd. day of June 1949, in Cumberland, Maryland; that there were no children born of this said marriage; and that the defendant deserted the plaintiff on the 15th. day of December 1953, without just cause or reason, and that the desertion has continued uninterruptedly since that date, and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of any reconciliation. That the plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland for more than 3 yrs. before the filing of this suit and that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and his residence is unknown to your oratrix.

It is thereupon ordered this 28th day of October 1955, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 28th day of November 1955, giving notice to the non resident defendant of the object of this suit and the substance of the Bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 14th day of December 1955, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Matilda Krapf, widow, 121 Bisvey Drive, Falls Church, Virginia; George H. Lottig and Myrtle Irene Lottig, his wife, 325 Bedford Street, Cumberland, Maryland; and Earl E. Manges, Executor of the Last Will and Testament of Mary Helen Huster, deceased, P. O. B. 833, Cumberland, Md. Vs. John Mansfield, address unknown, and the unknown wife of John Mansfield. No. 24327 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of the Bill of Complaint in the above cause is to obtain a decree for the partition sale of the following-described real estate: All that certain parcel of land situate on Lincoln Street in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, known as Lot No. 23 in Gephart's Bedford Road Addition to Cumberland (an amended plat of which is filed among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Plat Box Case No. 82) and which is more particularly described as follows: BEGINNING at a point on the northwesterly side of Lincoln Street at the end of the first line of Lot No. 22 in said Addition; and running thence with the northwesterly side of Lincoln Street, South 41 degrees 5 minutes West 33 feet to an alley; and with it, (being also by a line at right angles to said Lincoln Street) North 48 degrees 55 minutes West 100 feet to Olive Alley; and with it, North 41 degrees 5 minutes East 33 feet to the end of the second line of Lot No. 22; and with the said second line reversed, South 48 degrees 55 minutes East 100 feet to the place of beginning.

The Bill states that Matilda Krapf, widow; George H. Lottig; and John Mansfield, as heirs of Mary Helen Huster, deceased, are the owners as tenants in common of the aforesaid real estate; that the said real estate is encumbered by a mortgage to the Western Maryland Building and Loan Association in the principal amount of $4,300.74 with interest from January 1, 1955; that the value of the said property is $12,000.00; that the said real estate is not susceptible of partition without material loss or injury to the parties hereto and that to make division of said property, it is necessary that it be sold and the proceeds be distributed to Earl E. Manges, Executor of the Last Will and Testament of Mary Helen Huster, deceased, for the payment of debts and administration expenses of the Orphans' Court, and the net proceeds of sale to be distributed under the terms of the will of Mary Helen Huster, thereto; that the Respondent, John Mansfield, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and that the name of his wife is unknown.

It is, thereupon, this 4th day of November, 1955, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Complainants, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 6th day of December, 1955, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the substance of this Bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 23rd day of December, 1955, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree ought not be passed herein as prayed.

Philadelphia Firm Gets Nod On Town Bonds

Westernport Sells Below Par Value

The Westernport Mayor and Council, by a split decision, voted to sell a $374,000 water improvement bond issue to Thackart Grant and Company of Philadelphia at five per cent below par at an interest rate of three and three-fourths cents a year. The bonds are to be retired in 30 years and are callable in four years if the town finds it profitable to refinance.

The meeting on the bond bids lasted five hours. Mayor Okey Michael said only two bids were received. The other would have paid the town 98 per cent of par at the same interest rate, and the issue would have been for 33 years and the bonds not callable.

This bid came from Alex Brown and Company of Baltimore.

The successful bidder provided that the town must raise its water rates 60 per cent, guarantee a tax rate high enough to assure payments, and set up a sinking fund with all revenues from the water system remaining in a water account.

The unsuccessful bidder made similar provisions except that they wanted water rates in the town raised 75 per cent and 10 per cent of the town's taxes set aside for a sinking fund the first year, and 20 per cent of taxes earmarked after that.

Harry Richards, water commissioner, made a motion to accept the bid of the Baltimore firm, but his motion died for want of a second. In the final voting, he voted against the Philadelphia firm and for the Baltimore firm. Mayor Michael does not vote except in case of a tie, but he indicated that he also favored the Philadelphia bidder. The final vote was three to one.

Council, after accepting the bid for the bonds, passed an order authorizing Glac and Glac of Harrisburg, Pa., to proceed with preparation of contracts for constructing the proposed filtration plant that has already been approved.

Besides the construction of the filtration system, an auxiliary reservoir to supply the new Bruce High School and that area will be constructed and $116,000 worth of bonds about to retire, will all be paid out of the $355,300 the town will receive for its $374,000 bond issue.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Proposals will be received by the Mayor and City Council at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, until but not after November 14, 1955, at 10:00 A. M., E.S.T. At 10:00 o'clock on said date they will be publicly opened and read by the City Clerk in said City Hall. Proposal must be submitted in duplicate in a sealed envelope endorsed "Proposal for Painting, Cleaning and Repairing Three City Water Tanks at Fort Hill, Ridgedale Reservoir and Braddock Road." If mailed, it must be enclosed in an outer sealed envelope addressed to City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond in the amount of Five Hundred Dollars, ($500.00).

The work includes cleaning, repairing and painting the interiors and exteriors, including supporting structures of two elevated tanks and one stand pipe.

Specifications and proposal forms may be obtained in the office of the City Engineer, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland.

The Commission will reserve the right to waive any formalities and to reject any or all bids, and to accept any proposal which in their judgment is to the best interests of the City.

A performance bond in the full amount of the accepted bid will be required of the successful bidder.

Clara Mae Clark vs. James K. Clark. No. 24323 Equity, in the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII.

The Bill of Complaint states that the parties were married on the 3rd. day of June 1949, in Cumberland, Maryland; that there were no children born of this said marriage; and that the defendant deserted the plaintiff on the 15th. day of December 1953, without just cause or reason, and that the desertion has continued uninterruptedly since that date, and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of any reconciliation. That the plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland for more than 3 yrs. before the filing of this suit and that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and his residence is unknown to your oratrix.

It is thereupon ordered this 28" day of October 1955, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Allegany County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 28" day of November 1955, giving notice to the non resident defendant of the object of this suit and the substance of the Bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 14" day of December 1955, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

No. 24327 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of the Bill of Complaint in the above cause is to obtain a decree for the partition sale of the following described real estate: All that certain parcel of land situate on Lincoln Street in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, known as Lot No. 23 in Gephart's Bedford Road Addition to Cumberland (an amended plat of which is filed among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Plat Box Case No. 82) and which is more particularly described as follows: BEGINNING at a point on the northwesterly side of Lincoln Street at the end of the first line of Lot No. 22 in said Addition; and running thence with the northwesterly side of Lincoln Street, South 41 degrees 5 minutes West 33 feet to an alley; and with it, (being also by a line at right angles to said Lincoln Street) North 48 degrees 55 minutes West 100 feet to Olive Alley; and with it, North 41 degrees 5 minutes East 33 feet to the end of the second line of Lot No. 22; and with the said second line reversed, South 48 degrees 55 minutes East 100 feet to the place of beginning.

The Bill states that Matilda Krapf, widow; George H. Manges, Executor of the Last Will and Testament of Mary Helen Huster, deceased, for the payment of debts and administration expenses of the Orphans' Court, and the net proceeds of sale to be distributed under the terms of the will of Mary Helen Huster, therein; that the Respondent, John Mansfield, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and that the name of his wife is unknown.

It is, thereupon, this 4" day of November, 1955, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Complainants, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 6" day of December, 1955, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the substance of this Bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 23" day of December, 1955, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree ought not be passed herein as prayed.

Philadelphia Firm Gets Nod On Town Bonds

Westernport Sells Below Par Value

The Westernport Mayor and Council, by a split decision, voted to sell a $374,000 water improvement bond issue to Thackart Grant and Company of Philadelphia at five per cent below par at an interest rate of three and three-fourths cents a year. The bonds are to be retired in 30 years and are callable in four years if the town finds it profitable to refinance.

The meeting on the bond bids lasted five hours. Mayor Okey Michael said only two bids were received. The other would have paid the town 98 per cent of par at the same interest rate, and the issue would have been for 33 years and the bonds not callable.

This bid came from Alex Brown and Company of Baltimore.

The successful bidder provided that the town must raise its water rates 60 per cent, guarantee a tax rate high enough to assure payments, and set up a sinking fund with all revenues from the water system remaining in a water account.

The unsuccessful bidder made similar provisions except that they wanted water rates in the town raised 75 per cent and 10 per cent of the town's taxes set aside for a sinking fund the first year, and 20 per cent of taxes earmarked after that.

Harry Richards, water commissioner, made a motion to accept the bid of the Baltimore firm, but his motion died for want of a second. In the final voting, he voted against the Philadelphia firm and for the Baltimore firm. Mayor Michael does not vote except in case of a tie, but he indicated that he also favored the Philadelphia bidder. The final vote was three to one.

Council, after accepting the bid for the bonds, passed an order authorizing Glac and Glac of Harrisburg, Pa., to proceed with preparation of contracts for constructing the proposed filtration plant that has already been approved.

Besides the construction of the filtration system, an auxiliary reservoir to supply the new Bruce High School and that area will be constructed and $116,000 worth of bonds about to retire, will all be paid out of the $355,300 the town will receive for its $374,000 bond issue.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Proposals will be received by the Mayor and City Council at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, until but not after November 14, 1955, at 10:00 A. M., E.S.T. At 10:00 o'clock on said date they will be publicly opened and read by the City Clerk in said City Hall. Proposal must be submitted in duplicate in a sealed envelope endorsed "Proposal for Painting, Cleaning and Repairing Three City Water Tanks at Fort Hill, Ridgedale Reservoir and Braddock Road." If mailed, it must be enclosed in an outer sealed envelope addressed to City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond in the amount of Five Hundred Dollars, ($500.00).

The work includes cleaning, repairing and painting the interiors and exteriors, including supporting structures of two elevated tanks and one stand pipe.

Specifications and proposal forms may be obtained in the office of the City Engineer, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland.

The Commission will reserve the right to waive any formalities and to reject any or all bids, and to accept any proposal which in their judgment is to the best interests of the City.

A performance bond in the full amount of the accepted bid will be required of the successful bidder.

CAP Squadron Plans Dry Run Rescue Mission

Exercise Slated Tomorrow Morning

Planes of Fort Cumberland Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, will fan out from the Cumberland Municipal Airport early tomorrow morning on a simulated mission of mercy.

Similar exercises will be held by other CAP squadrons of Maryland.

The CAP planes will leave the airport here at 7:30 a. m. and will continue the systematic search until the target is located from the air.

They will be searching for an airplane or men with parachutes, down in some field of Western Maryland.

As soon as a plane locates the target, it will radio the location to ground mission crews, who will drive or walk to the spot to complete the rescue mission.

Six Planes To Fly

He said the search will continue until the target is located and the mission completed.

In emergencies, targets have been located by the CAP in as short a time as 15 minutes. Some have taken six or more days.

Major William J. Patterson, based at Aldino Airport, near Baltimore, will be base commander of the state-wide CAP operation, which will include flights from Aldino and Hagerstown airports.

At least six planes will be manned by CAP personnal for the search mission here. They will be backed up by some 15 other members standing by to begin ground operations.

The Fort Cumberland Squadron has taken part in a number of real alerts during the past few years, on search missions from here and from the Elkins, W. Va. and Hagerstown airports.

Other Units To Fly

These grim exercises included an all-night search by ground units for a Navy aircraft which crashed near Wellersburg, Pa., and the crash of a B-25 in the Oakland area a few years ago.

Similar rescue missions will be held tomorrow by CAP units working out of the Hagerstown and Aldino airports.

Officials said anyone interested in the operation of the mission will be welcome at the airport, where the communications center will be operated.

The Fort Cumberland Squadron has 21 members. In all, up to 100 planes and several times that number of ground personnel may take part in tomorrow's alert.

Surplus Foods Distribution Begins Monday

Early Start Being Made This Month

Interest in growing in other counties in the surplus food program which has been under way here for the past 16 months, Walker Chapman observed last night.

While discussing the early November schedule for distribution of surplus commodities because of the Thanksgiving holiday, Chapman noted that he and the county commissioners have received requests from four other counties about the program. Frederick, Montgomery, St. Mary's and Prince George's counties are interested in how the program operates, and all the details. Chapman said he is sending them the information.

The November distribution of federal surplus foodstuffs allocated here for November will begin Monday. Usually, the distribution is a week later in each month, but in order to finish ahead of the Thanksgiving holiday, an earlier start is being made.

Chapman said the trucks will be in Westernport Monday from 9 a. m. until noon; Barton on Tuesday, the same hours; Lonaconing on Wednesday from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.; Midland on Thursday from 9 a. m. until noon; and Frostburg on Friday from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.

Chapman made special note, to avoid confusion, that the distribution in Frostburg will be made on Friday November 11, despite the fact that this day is a legal holiday.

The following week, distribution will be made Monday, for Eckhart, but the distribution center will be moved to the Clarysville Fire Hall. The old school building at Eckhart, formerly used, has been condemned.

On Tuesday, November 15, Mt. Savage registrants will be served from 9 a. m. until noon; and Wednesday the trucks will be at Cresaptown from 9 a. m. until noon.

November 17 and 18, food will be handed out in Cumberland between the hours of 9 a. m. until 2 p. m.

Man Jailed For Breach Of Trust

A Baltimore man was arrested by Maryland State Police yesterday afternoon in Hancock and is lodged in Allegany County jail on a charge of larceny after trust.

Forrest L. Berrean is charged with obtaining $905 from Arlie Lease Jr., of Cresaptown, on the pretext of getting the Cresaptown man a better job.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, last night said Berrean will be questioned this morning by James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney.

Sgt. Baker yesterday obtained a warrant of larceny after trust from Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason and had Berrean picked up in Hancock by Tfc. Richard Garvey.

The Baltimore man, according to Sgt. Baker, had approached Lease during the latter part of October and said he could get him a better job. Lease was owner and operator of a service station at intersection of Mt. Savage Road and Route 40 in Narrows Park.

He reportedly was looking for another job when he was approached by Berrean who, according to Sgt. Baker, got the $905 after visiting and talking with Lease on three separate occasions.

Sgt. Baker said Berrean told Lease he would need the cash bond in order that the new job would be assured. After a certain length of time, Lease reported the incident to Sgt. Baker, who investigated and forwarded a description and other information to police in Hancock.

Agents Handling State Property Insurance Cited

Many Political Figures On List

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (AP)—A list of insurance agents handling policies on state property and including the names of a number of Maryland political figures, was made public today.

State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles earlier had balked at releasing the list to a newsman.

State Delegate Jerome Robinson (D-Balto. 4th) asked the Legislative Council to seek the list. It was made public today.

On it, among others, was the insurance company bearing the name of U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) of Frostburg. He said his son now is running the firm and that he is no longer active in it.

Goldstein Included

Wilkinson, state treasurer spokesmen said, has been on the list more than 20 years and has policies totaling $3,375,000. Premiums on that could exceed $6,000.

CAP Squadron Plans Dry Run Rescue Mission

Exercise Slated Tomorrow Morning

Planes of Fort Cumberland Squadron, Civil Air Patrol, will fan out from the Cumberland Municipal Airport early tomorrow morning on a simulated mission of mercy.

Similar exercises will be held by other CAP squadrons of Maryland.

The CAP planes will leave the airport here at 7:30 a. m. and will continue the systematic search until the target is located from the air.

They will be searching for an airplane or men with parachutes, down in some field of Western Maryland.

As soon as a plane locates the target, it will radio the location to ground mission crews, who will drive or walk to the spot to complete the rescue mission.

Six Planes To Fly

He said the search will continue until the target is located and the mission completed.

In emergencies, targets have been located by the CAP in as short a time as 15 minutes. Some have taken six or more days.

Major William J. Patterson, based at Aldino Airport, near Baltimore, will be base commander of the state-wide CAP operation, which will include flights from Aldino and Hagerstown airports.

At least six planes will be manned by CAP personnal for the search mission here. They will be backed up by some 15 other members standing by to begin ground operations.

The Fort Cumberland Squadron has taken part in a number of real alerts during the past few years, on search missions from here and from the Elkins, W. Va. and Hagerstown airports.

Other Units To Fly

These grim exercises included an all-night search by ground units for a Navy aircraft which crashed near Wellersburg, Pa., and the crash of a B-25 in the Oakland area a few years ago.

Similar rescue missions will be held tomorrow by CAP units working out of the Hagerstown and Aldino airports.

Officials said anyone interested in the operation of the mission will be welcome at the airport, where the communications center will be operated.

The Fort Cumberland Squadron has 21 members. In all, up to 100 planes and several times that number of ground personnel may take part in tomorrow's alert.

Surplus Foods Distribution Begins Monday

Early Start Being Made This Month

Interest in growing in other counties in the surplus food program which has been under way here for the past 16 months, Walker Chapman observed last night.

While discussing the early November schedule for distribution of surplus commodities because of the Thanksgiving holiday, Chapman noted that he and the county commissioners have received requests from four other counties about the program. Frederick, Montgomery, St. Mary's and Prince George's counties are interested in how the program operates, and all the details. Chapman said he is sending them the information.

The November distribution of federal surplus foodstuffs allocated here for November will begin Monday. Usually, the distribution is a week later in each month, but in order to finish ahead of the Thanksgiving holiday, an earlier start is being made.

Chapman said the trucks will be in Westernport Monday from 9 a. m. until noon; Barton on Tuesday, the same hours; Lonaconing on Wednesday from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.; Midland on Thursday from 9 a. m. until noon; and Frostburg on Friday from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.

Chapman made special note, to avoid confusion, that the distribution in Frostburg will be made on Friday November 11, despite the fact that this day is a legal holiday.

The following week, distribution will be made Monday, for Eckhart, but the distribution center will be moved to the Clarysville Fire Hall. The old school building at Eckhart, formerly used, has been condemned.

On Tuesday, November 15, Mt. Savage registrants will be served from 9 a. m. until noon; and Wednesday the trucks will be at Cresaptown from 9 a. m. until noon.

November 17 and 18, food will be handed out in Cumberland between the hours of 9 a. m. until 2 p. m.

Man Jailed For Breach Of Trust

A Baltimore man was arrested by Maryland State Police yesterday afternoon in Hancock and is lodged in Allegany County jail on a charge of larceny after trust.

Forrest L. Berrean is charged with obtaining $905 from Arlie Lease Jr., of Cresaptown, on the pretext of getting the Cresaptown man a better job.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, last night said Berrean will be questioned this morning by James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney.

Sgt. Baker yesterday obtained a warrant of larceny after trust from Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason and had Berrean picked up in Hancock by Tfc. Richard Garvey.

The Baltimore man, according to Sgt. Baker, had approached Lease during the latter part of October and said he could get him a better job. Lease was owner and operator of a service station at intersection of Mt. Savage Road and Route 40 in Narrows Park.

He reportedly was looking for another job when he was approached by Berrean who, according to Sgt. Baker, got the $905 after visiting and talking with Lease on three separate occasions.

Sgt. Baker said Berrean told Lease he would need the cash bond in order that the new job would be assured. After a certain length of time, Lease reported the incident to Sgt. Baker, who investigated and forwarded a description and other information to police in Hancock.

Kiwanis Elects New Officers, Plan Kids' Party

The Cumberland Kiwanis Club this week elected new officers for 1956 and completed plans for a skating party this afternoon at the State Armory for the boys and girls who attended Sunshine Camp last summer as guests of the Kiwanians.

Mortimer C. Schaidt, who has been vice president of Kiwanis this year, was elected new president, succeeding Bernard G. Renz. Albert H. Hargreaves was elected vice president and G. William Eichner was re-elected treasurer.

All 52 boys and girls who attended Sunshine Camp in June and July as guests of the Kiwanians were invited to skate at the armory in another treat provided by the club. Some 34 indicated they would like to skate between 1:30 and 4:15 p. m. today at the armory.

Kiwanians will pick up the boys and girls at their homes about 1 p. m. today and will bring them to the armory and take them home.

If this first party proves successful the Kiwanis Club plans to stage another one for the deserving boys and girls on the first Saturday of December.

Agents Handling State Property Insurance Cited

Many Political Figures On List

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (AP)—A list of insurance agents handling policies on state property and including the names of a number of Maryland political figures, was made public today.

State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles earlier had balked at releasing the list to a newsman.

State Delegate Jerome Robinson (D-Balto. 4th) asked the Legislative Council to seek the list. It was made public today.

On it, among others, was the insurance company bearing the name of U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) of Frostburg. He said his son now is running the firm and that he is no longer active in it.

Goldstein Included

The list of 312 names also included the firm of D'Alesandro-McCullough. Baltimore's Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro has been in the insurance business for years.

State insurance totals about $142 million. Premiums figured on an annual basis would run around $304,000. Agents get a percentage of the premiums.

Request In Writing

The Beall firm, according to state treasurer records, has policies valued at $1,205,000. The premiums would come to about $2,410 annually.

The D'Alesandro - McCullough firm has policies totaling $2,314,400. Premiums would be approximately $4,500 annually.

Goldstein has policies totaling $750,000. Luber's total $2,000,000. The premiums would approximate $4,000.

Wilkinson, state treasurer spokesmen said, has been on the list more than 20 years and has policies totaling $3,375,000. Premiums on that could exceed $6,000.
